A very tragical event occurred, in June We have received a Circular from the Selast, at New Zealand. Two native chiefs cretary giving reports of the Proceedings of That leviathan of the ocean, the Great Britian, which richly deserves to have the adjective "Great" preceding her name, her tonnage being 3,500, and her horse power 1000, will follow her on the 25th of May. Sanguine hopes are entertained by the projectors that this magnificent ship will open a new era in ocean steam navigation, as she assuredly will, if her speed be at air equal to the amplitude and splendor of her accommodations. Under any circumstances, she will be an object of undoubted curiosity in the Western world. Lieutenant Hosken, part when the latter shall be published. Lord the will be an object of undoubted curiosity in the Western would. Lieutenant Hosken, the popular and gentlemanly commander of the Great Western resigns that vessel to take charge of her new and gigantic ally. He is sacceeded by Mr. R. B. Matthews, who has long been favortably known as the first officer of the ship which he will henceforth command—we doubt not, efficiently.
