

The Mission Field.

ALGOMA.

The claims of Algoma are being put forward in the English press in the following forcible way:—

The population (composed principally of small farmers, fishermen, lumbermen, miners, navvies labouring on the Canadian Pacific Railway) numbers about 60,000, of whom 10,000 it is computed are Ojibway Indians, the large majority of these latter being still pagans. To minister to her children in this vast territory the Church of England has had, thus far, only fifteen missionaries, several of whom officiate at from six to ten out-stations. Others are sorely needed—men with clear heads and warm hearts, animated by an intense love for souls, and prepared to 'endure hardness (if need be) as good soldiers.' Organised Indian Missions are three in number. In close connection with them are two 'Homes,' the 'Shingwauk' and 'Wawanosh,' for Indian boys and girls respectively, in which, with a sound English education, practical instruction is given in various industrial pursuits, such as farming, gardening, boot and shoe making, printing, tailoring, and carpentering. The Bishop is seeking funds as well as men for this Mission field. The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts gives £650 per annum, including a special grant of £200, recently voted for four new Missions about to be organised; the Colonial and Continental Church Society £285 per annum. The Bishop's income is at present derived from assessments made upon the eight organised dioceses of Canada. A movement is therefore, on foot to place the Episcopal stipend on a more permanent basis by raising a capital sum, the interest available annually. The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel have generously promised to contribute £1,000 sterling to this fund, if £4,000 are raised from other sources by 1887, The Society for promoting Christian Knowledge have also made a conditional promise of a similar sum. A widows, and orphans' fund has to be established, Algoma being the only diocese of the nine embraced in the ecclesiastical province of Canada which does not possess a fund for the maintenance of the widows and orphans of deceased clergymen. With a shore-line of 1,000 miles including the islands, the Bishop of Algoma, finds it impossible to do his work efficiently without a small steam-boat. The first cost of such a boat would be at least $2,500 (£500), and the annual summer expenses about $200 (£40) per month. Towards the purchase the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel have voted £100. The diocese possesses two small stone churches; the rest, numbering about fifty, are log or frame, erected largely; in many cases, by the offerings of the people in money, material, and labor, supplemented by special grants from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, of sums varying from £10 to £50, conditional on the Church property being properly insured and deeded.

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all druggists.

SUBSTITUTES!

The public are cautioned against a custom which is growing quite common of late among a certain class of medicine dealers, and which is this: When asked for a bottle of Pain-Killer, they suddenly discover that they are "sold out," "but have another article just as good, if not better," which they will substitute at the same price. The object of this deception is transparent. These substitutes are made up to sell on the great reputation of the Pain-Killer; and being compounded of the vilest and cheapest drugs, are bought by the dealer at about half what he pays for the genuine Pain-Killer, which enables him therefore to realize a few cents more profit per bottle upon the imitation article than he can on the genuine.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER

IS UNEQUALLED. IT CURES ALMOST INSTANTLY.

The PAIN KILLER is put up in 2 oz. and 5 oz. bottles, retailing at 25 and 50 cents respectively,—large bottles are therefore cheapest.
