

October 25th,
1933

My dear Dr. Low,

It was a real delight to me to receive your letter of October 13th, in which you speak kindly of the qualifications of Dr. John T. Farr. I shall pass your letter on to our authorities and hope that Dr. Farr may be successful in his application for an internship in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

You will be glad to know that our medical school maintains its first-class reputation. A few weeks ago we laid the cornerstone of the new Neurological Institute, a building just across from the Royal Victoria Hospital and connected with the latter institution by a bridge. It contains some 44 beds, of which 16 are for private patients. There are all sorts of laboratory and experimental rooms, besides operating rooms, lecture clinics, accommodation for internes, etc. Altogether, it should make the most complete neurological institute on this Continent, and certainly no institute in the world is guided by a more qualified or a more capable surgeon than Dr. Wilder Penfield, most ably assisted as he is by another eminent man, Dr. Cone. Dr. Penfield already has working with him men from Canada, the United States, Great Britain, Denmark, Germany, Poland and Russia. Nothing that we have done in recent years will add more to the reputation of the School. We are getting a fine class of students, and our constituency ever widens.

I do not know when I shall be in Regina next but in the meantime please remember me most kindly to all my friends there, and with all good wishes, I am,

Ever yours faithfully,

Principal
