

confiscation, (always excepting, however, the ship and other articles which she contains.)

ART. XXI. That the ship and cargo may be watched over with care ; and, to prevent waste, it is determined that the master, captain, or supercargo, of the captured vessel shall not be removed from on board, either while the ship shall be at sea, after having been taken, or during the proceedings which take place against her, her cargo, or something relating to her.

When the ships belonging to the citizens of either of the parties shall be taken, seized, or detained, to be tried, her officers, passengers, and crew, shall be treated with humanity. They shall not be imprisoned nor stripped of their cloaths, nor of money for their private use, which must not exceed, for the captain, supercargo, or mate, 500 dollars each, and for the sailors and passengers 100 dollars each.

The remaining Articles of the Convention are foreign to our subject.
