Curtains

Curtains are perhaps more important to the housefurnisher than any other item. They are more important to the people on the street, anyway, and might well be designated Signboards of our Character.

Do not be guilty of perpetrating a serious crime by inflicting a pair of unsightly curtains on society in general, but get something tasteful, neat and not gaudy, and in keeping with things outside and inside.

Such curtains are here advertised, and the price given knocks the legs from under that excuse you were going to make by saying: "Pretty curtains are so expensive."
