In his report on the matter, Dr. Hastings stated that school nurses had not been informed that the child had contracted spinal meningitis unil several days afer he had gone home ill. The schoolroom had been fumi-gated not because it was really necessary, but to allay the fears of the parents of the children who attend the same school.

Cont. McBride wanted to know if it was not the duty of the nurses to fol-low up any case of illness, but he let that drop for the moment while he got after the M. O. TO REOPEN TODAY

Dome and Ophir Strong in New York-Find at Adanac.

Owing to Thursday night's fire in the Standard Stock Exchange Building having seriously interfered with the wires, it was found impossible to hold sessions yesterday, but it was stated last night that the exchange will probably be open for business today.

A good deal of interest was shown by market traders in the strength of Dome and Ophir in New York yesterday. The former advanced 50c a shore to $13.00 on the big exchange, while Ophir was reported to have sold as high as 13c on the cub there, with the closing at 12c. On the local curb Ophir was traded in around 11½c.

Some further encouraging discoveries on the Adanac were reported yesterday. In drifting south along the old workings, and at a distance of more than 500 feet from No. 1 vein, whereon stoping operations are being carried on with excellent results as well as paralleling No. 2 vein more than 100 feet distant, the workers ran into a new high grade ore body Samples brought to Toronto from Cobalt vesterday showed up well in native silver, cobalt and smatite. The vein is stated to show a width of about fou inches, and is estimated to show values of about $2,000 to the ton.

RICH SILVER VALLIES

RICH SILVER VALUES FOUND IN OPHIR VEIN

Hamilton B. Wills, in his weekly market letter, says:
"I learned yesterday from my engineer at Cobalt that a strike of more and income importance had gineer at Cobalt that a strike of more than ordinary importance had been recorded on the Ophir upon the 580-foot level. This morning I learn from a reliable source the vein is of good width and values run 3,500 ounces to the ton. It is the opinion of well-posted men in Cobalt that in case the present high-grade vein continues to hold, as is anticipated by the drillers coming off shift last night, Nipissing will take over the Ophir.

"While details of the high-grade while details of the high-grade strike made yesterday are yet some-what meagre, I am advised the drillers broke into a vein heavily impregnated with silver, as well as the native appearing in the wall rock on either side. The fact that this strike was made as the upper contact leads engineers to the theory that this ore body will develop into large proportions. Further along the 580-foot level eight other veins proven in the upper levels are expected to be tapped."
