LABOR NEWS

TRADES UNIONS ELECT OFFICERS

Trade Union Group of Canadian Labor Party Chooses Executive.

John Macdonald, patternmaker, was last night elected president of the executive of the trades union group of the Ontario section of the Canadian labor party, and J. M. Baker of the Canadian Federation of Labor was elected vice-president. James Higgins returned sold or unionist, being elected secretary. John Macdonald stated to The World that a delegation from the trades union group would appear before the convention of the I.L.P., which is to be held at the Labor Temple this afternoon, to arrange for a combined conference on Saturday, Nov. 22, with a view to nominating candidates for aldermen and the board of education. Mr. Macdonald stated that so far as he knew it would be the aim of the group to maintain its identity, but that the season on Nov. 22 would practically be a convention of the Canadian labor party, and that a thoroughgoing executive would doubtless then be elected which would put the Canadian labor party in Ontario at least on a proper business basis of organization.

NEW SHOPMEN'S SCALE

Agree With War Board for New Schedule of Wages.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The new agreement arrived at between the Canadian railroad war board and representatives of the Shopmen's Union provides that men engaged in locomotive work are to receive an increase of four cents per hour and men in car repair shops an increase of nine cents an hour. The difference in the increases is due to the fact that the repair shopmen claimed that under the old agreement they had not received as liberal treatment as their co-workers. The agreement stands for one year from November 1, 1919, but the men will get the new wage terms as from May 1, 1919, when negotiations with the war board began.

O. B. U. HAS GOVERNMENT RECOGNITION.

E. R. Bales, secretary of the Toronto Central Council of the One Big Union, in an interview yesterday afternoon with The World stated that the intimation of the acting minister of labor, F. A. Acland, to the executive of the O. B. U., that the government was desirous of getting the names of the officials of the organization was evidence in itself that the government placed the O. B. U. on the same footing as any other trades union organization.

FOUND WOODS TOO COLD

Complaining that he could not stand the cold working in the bush up north, Bryce Bumpus walked into Court street station last night and asked for a night's lodging. He told Sgt. McArthur he had no money and had not eaten since morning. Bumpus was wearing his shoes backs and had heavy woolen socks pulled up over his trousers. While the station duty man was registering him as a vag, Bumpus kept stretched out one of his feet, as tho he was reaching for the rail in a barroom. This was noticed by the police, but Bumpus replied that his legs were paining him from the cold.
