Soon after the chimes had announced the hour of 12 last night, six young men assembled on the corner of Wellington and Dundas street. They seemed very nervous, peering about in every direction to see if a policeman was in sight. One was not in sight, but they were sighted by P. C. Thomas Noonan. From the depths of one of the men's pocket a small bottle of the old Imperial brand

AN INNOVATION.—An event unique in the history of Dundas Centre Methodist Church occurred yesterday afternoon, when about 80 to 100 couples, men and women, proceeded to the homes of every member and adherent of the church and made a short visit. Incidentally, church views were ex-changed, and the pros and cons on many subjects were heartily entered into, and proved an excellent way of getting acquainted with each other. Possibly every home visited was not just in accord with church rituals and discipline, but nevertheless a more friendly spirit was engendered. Every visitor received a most hospitable welcome, and it is altogether likely that a regular visiting Sunday will be proclaimed in the not far distant future.

Police Appear and Combatant s Land in Court-Two Have Pleasure of Paying Fines.

Although the Marquis of Queensberry rules were not observed by the three men engaged in a fight in front of the Metropole Cafe, Richmond street, on Sunday evening, hundreds of citizens were just as pleased as they would have been at a real prize fight; and cheered their favorites at each turn of the proceedings. However, the battle did not last as long as was anticipated, for P. C. Roy Venner and P. C. William Gow interfered, with the result that two young men were charged with assaulting Abdul Hameed, the proprietor of the restaurant.

Both Fined. In police court this morning one of them paid $20 for being drunk and disorderly, and the other paid $10 for being disorderly. The charge of assault they denied and were not fined on that count.

According to Hameed and his wife, the two men used insulting language toward her, and were asked to be quiet. Mr. Hameed put his hands on one of the men's shoulders, and in return received a punch on the nose.

Both fined.

Joseph, an Italian waiter at the cafe, whose surname was unpronounceable and apparently could not be spelled by anyone, said that one of the combatants, when asked for money, said: "Before I give you monies I give a punch on de nose."

Hameed presented in court the bill for the meal. It amounted to $1.85. Magistrate Graydon said that he could not order the payment of it, but that if it was not paid a charge could be laid.

Construction of this addition to Detroit's hotel accommodation is being rushed by the Freud Hotel Company, completion by July 31, 1920, being the aim. Marcul L. Freud of the Hotel Addison, president of the company, plans to have the formal opening some time in August.

Design for the building, prepared by G. H. Gotschalk of Chicago, calls for 17 stories and 500 outside guestrooms. The structure will cover an area 100 by 100 feet, and will be of brick, terra cotta and steel.

Each guestroom will have tub and shower bath connections. There also will be 20 sample rooms for salesmen. The hotel will cater especially to transient patronage.
