Drop of 35 Cents per Hunderdweight Registered Today.

A slight movement has again taken place in the sugar market. Today some local dealers quoted sugar at $12.15 a hundredweight, where last week it was quoted at $12.50 a hundredweight. The selling is slow on account of the unsettled market, but according to a few familiar with the situation, the price is expected to come much lower. The market has not yet reached pre-war prices, and large users of sugar claim that present quotations do not jestify a decrease in manufactured products containing a large percentage of sugar.
