The "Garden-gate" Pinafore
And Sunbonnet to Match, With a Cunning Little Bag to Carry Flowers, Shells, or Anything the Small Wearer Wishes to Gather

OFF TO THE WOODS to hunt for ferns, or to the beach to look for shells, or just to the end of the garden to pick pansies—wherever the little maiden in the picture is bound.

For, isn't it a cunning little bonnet and apron she's wearing?
It is the "Garden-Gate" pinafore, copied surely from some little Kate Greenaway picture. It is made of the binding being of plain pink or blue, just as you prefer.

And to match the apron is a sun-bonnet, with a dear little old-fashioned bow, to hold her treasures, or to pack the bonnet and apron into, if she doesn't want to wear them home at the end of the expedition.

The price for the three—bag, bonnet and pinafore—is $1.95.

PREPAREDNESS CRY A HOWL FOR WAR

Sir George Gibbons Declares That Conflict in Europe Inevitable.

QUESTIONS INSURANCE

Chairman of Bar Association Says It's Practically Gamble.

Sir George Gibbons' remarks on the world war featured yesterday's session of the Canadian Bar Association. It was nothing but a lot of rot, he said, that peace of the world could not be maintained by a world's supreme court of nations. The preparedness cry he characterized as but another howl for war. As far back as 1911 he knew that war was inevitable for no other reason than that the nations were preparing.

Chairman M. H. Ludwig, K.C., in his address to the association questioned whether insurance was legal. Practically he declared, an insurance between two parties was but a gamble between them that a certain thing will not happen.

"The judicial committee has intimated," he said, "that by registration properly framed, the Dominion Parliament might control certain phases of insurance business, but no clear indication has been given of how legislation ought to be framed. The Dominion Act in the meantime is ultra vires." Mr. Ludwig pointed out that presumably companies are not required to take out licenses under it. Probably the licenses now issued or heretofore issued under it are and were nullified. Possibly the Dominion Insurance Department itself had no legal existence.

The situation, he declared, was serious.

Mr. Justice Riddell's address on "The first law reporter in Upper Canada and his reports" was very interesting to the legal men. Thomas Taylor, he stated, was the first law reporter and his reports are still extant and occasionally referred to in our courts. After deducting his expenses his salary was $280 a year. He suggested a memorial to the late Judge Thomas Taylor, a lawyer and patriot, who died in 1911, to be placed in the hall of the association. This subject, he said, afforded an avenue of very useful work for an organization like the Canadian Bar Association. It would seem practicable, he said, to draft a common form of act for all the provinces.

"Democracy against autocracy, law against force, is the essence of the world war," said Hon. P. B. Macfarland of Washington, in an address on the reign of law against the reign of force. The lawyers, not only of Canada, but of the world, he said, owing to their leadership in public opinion, had a special responsibility to fight for democracy and for the supremacy of law.

Regret Death of Hon. Mr. Foy.
On motion of R. B. de Lorimier, K.C., the association passed a resolution of regret at the death of Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., for many years attorney-general of the province.

"The association wishes to place itself on record," in the sense of the great loss sustained by the profession at the passing away of the distinguished gentleman," the resolution read in part.

Sir George Gibbons concluded with an address on the legal tangles connected with great international waterways. Touching on the war, he said: "I think wars will cease. At present there is no remedy, in case of difference between nations other than the sword." He believed that once a permanent court is established, to which the parties have agreed to refer difficulties, there will be no more excuse for war.

"Not preparedness, he said, but lack of preparedness, had been responsible for the many years of peace between Canada and the United States.

He characterized as a lot of rot the contention that a nation cannot with-honor settle difficulties by arbitration. All that prevented world peace now he believed, was that the people of the world did not want it.

In wars of defence a nation had the right and should demand the services of every man in the defence of the country.

"Is there any sane man?" he said, "who thinks that there could be any other result than war from the expenditure in preparation which had been going on year after year by the great nations?"

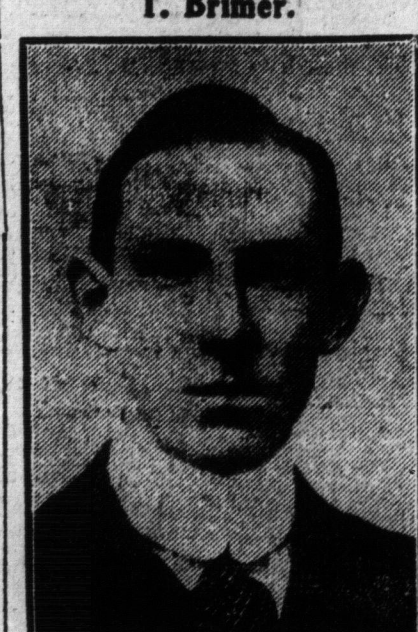

Sir George declared he knew in 1911 that there was going to be world war. "But," he said, "when you have government of the people by the people for the people the death of an archduke will not mean the loss of millions of lives."

SIXTY-NINTH BATTERY OPENS RECRUITING OFFICE

Men Who Can Ride Are Especially Welcomed—Telegraphers Wanted.

The 69th Battery have opened a recruiting office on the south side of King street, west of the Union Bank Building near Bay Street. This battery is made up of men from the university, department store managers, bankers, mechanics and others, so that any man joining is sure of finding congenial company, which aids very greatly to the enjoyment of camp life.

Men who can ride are especially welcome to the battery, and as all the men either ride or travel on the guns or limbers, men with tender feet may join a battery with no fear of suffering from sore feet. Mechanics will find ample scope for their abilities in handling the new model 18-pound gun which is being issued to the unit. This new gun resembles the French 75, and in the minds of the authorities is a superior weapon.

Telegraphers and phone men are more than welcome. And during the recent engagements several of this branch of the batteries have won the D. C. M.

OXFORD COUNTY FALLS IN LINE.

WOODSTOCK, June 16.—Oxford County Council has fallen in line with the act passed by the Ontario Legislature, amending the Ontario Highway Improvement Act. This act houses a county which has a good road system to the extent of 20 per cent on all repairs on that system.

The proviso is put in that the counties must appoint patrol men to go over the roads and keep them in good repair. These men are to have a horse and cart and fill in all ruts and holes. In this way it is expected the roads in a year or so will be in a constant state of good repair.

Oxford County is spending fifteen thousand dollars on repairs alone, so that they will receive three hundred dollars from the government.
