Rupe King, a longshoreman, while under the influence of liquor, fell off the wharf into York Point elip last night and narrowly escaped being drawned. King was standing by the side of the wharf and had, previous to the accident, narrowly escaped falling into a scow which was lying near the wharf. Finally he approached the side and staggered over the edge. He fell into several feet of water and for some time struggled for his life. Wm. Mo-Intyre say the drowning man and at once hurried to rescue him. King had gone down twice when he reached the place where the man was making frantic efforts to reach the side and staggered over the edge. He fell into several feet of water and for some time struggled for his life. Wm. Mo-Intyre say the drowning man and at once hurried to rescue him. King had gone down twice when he reached the place where the man was making frantic efforts to reach the shore. He was sinking the third time and would have gone under the scow and never appeared again, when McIntyre caught his clething and hauled him out of the water onto the wharf. King was nearly drowned and some time was spent working the water from his body before he recovered his senses.

IN VIEW OF SCORES

Reports from the Narrows tell of a very sad water accident which took lace yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, resulting in the drowning of Philip White, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the vicinity. The accident took place while the deceased was ferrying across the Narrows. Mr. White, who was seventy years of age, and a ferryman, was reulling a scow with two teams and several people on board, when, little over half way across, the scow went up against the piling of the new bridge which is being bullt at the Narrows. Mr. White took the scull oar and started shoving the scow away the Narrows. Mr. White took the soull oar and started shoving the scow away from the pile, when he slipped and fell overboard. It is supposed that his head struck the scow and stunned him, as he only came up for a second and sank from sight before the horrified spectators could render him any assistance. The accident was witnessed by a large number of people from both the shore and the new bridge, including Mr. White's son, who is engaged working on the new bridge. Immediately, on seeing the accident, the son with the others put off in small boats to render others put off in small boats to tender assistance, only to find themselves too dent was attending a wedding and was notified of the sad affair. Mrs. White, notified of the sad affair. Mrs. White, wife of the deceased was visiting in Carleton county, and when telephoned for it was learned that she had left on the train a few minutes before for St. John on her way home, expecting to be there today. What seems a strange and sad coincidence is that a few years ago Mr. White had a daughter, about twenty years of age, drowned at nearly the same spot. The body was recovered about 6 o'clock. The funeral will be held on Friday. Mr. White's father and his grandfa-ther before him were ferrymen on the VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 9.—Sir C. H. Tupper is confined to his house suffering from the effects of a bite of a spider. He was at Banff a week or so ago and was out among the trees when he felt a sharp sting. By evening large lump had formed and he has been suffering ever since. He is unable to bear the contact of clothing, though no serious effects are expected, as the trouble is merely local.
