

NOT NEW AFTER ALL.

Some Supposed Recent Discoveries That Were Known Ages Ago.

A learned Indian prince, Thakore Sahib of Gondal, is the author of a history of Aryan medical science issued from the London press. This book advances some remarkable claims on behalf of Hindoo science and civilization.

Prince Thakore asserts that the grandest discoveries of Western medical genius, such as vaccination, anesthesia, and anti-septic surgery, were all practised among the Hindoos many centuries ago. He declares that in the 'Aur Veda,' or 'Science of Life,' which is the most ancient of all Brahmin books on Medicine, nearly all the best modern methods of medical diagnosis as well as of practical surgery are fully set forth. The circulation of the blood, which we say was discovered by Harvey, is said to be fully set forth in this ancient volume of the Hindoo scriptures. Prince Thakore also cites historical evidence to show that cranial and abdominal surgical operations of the most difficult kind, such as we have supposed were never performed until within the last fifty years, were done 1,000 years ago in the land of Buddha. He points to the record of the trephining of King Bhoja of Dhar, who lived about A. D. 977, to relieve him of severe pains in his head. The record clearly states that the king was rendered unconscious, his cranium opened, the cause of the trouble removed from the brain, the wound closed up, and his trouble completely cured. Jivaks, who was Buddha's own physician, performed similar operations.

Such claims tend to shake the self-esteem of Western peoples as the wisest and most highly inventive that have ever occupied the earth and to cast a doubt upon their boast that they are 'the heirs of all the ages in the foremost files of time.' It is no new thing, however, for us to be told that all light travels from the east to the west, and not from the west to the east. We speak of Asia as 'the cradle of the race,' and so it undoubtedly was. We need not be surprised, therefore, if, as Asia becomes better known and its antiquities more closely inquired into, we should find that much of the supposed new knowledge of the west was familiar in the east when the world was young. Wendell Phillips' most celebrated lecture was entitled 'The Lost Arts.' Curiously enough, it is not included in the standard edition of his published works. A pamphlet copy of it, published twenty years ago, is hard to find. The famous Massachusetts orator very largely forestalled the claims of Prince Thakore. He boldly declared that of 100 marvellous things known to the nineteenth century 99 of them had been anticipated by the ancients. He pointed more particularly to mechanical arts and inventions. He quoted Pliny to show that Nero had a ring with a gem in it through which he looked and watched the sword play of the gladiators in the arena more clearly than with the naked eye—a style of opera glass unknown to us moderns.

The use of microscopes of immense power in ancient Egypt, Persia, and Greece is fairly presumable because there is a gem shown at Parma once worn on the finger of Michael Angelo, the engraving whereon is 2,000 years old and which revealed the figures of seven women only with the aid of a strong magnifying glass. Sir Henry Rowlandson brought home from Neneveh a stone about 20 inches long by 10 inches wide containing a whole treatise on mathematics that was utterly illegible without a microscope. And if it cannot be read without a microscope it could not have been engraved without similar aid. Mr. Phillips averred that the art of coloring reached a perfection among the ancients far beyond our own town. The buried city of Pompeii was a city of stucco. The exteriors of the walls and all its buildings were of stucco, and the stucco was stained with Tyrian purple, the royal color of antiquity. The city has been buried 1,800 years, yet whenever the walls of one of its houses are dug out the royal purple flames up to view with a great deal richer hue than any we can produce. Evidently the Pompeians possessed a secret for making fast colors that we have not. When the English despoiled the summer palace of the Emperor of China they brought home curiously wrought metal vessels of every kind, and European metal workers confessed their inability to reproduce them. Sheffield steel is an English boast, but it will not bear the atmosphere of India without gilding. Yet the Damascus blades used in the crusades were not gilded, and they are as bright and keen today as they were eight centuries ago. There was one shown at the London exhibition in 1862 the point of which could be put to touch the hilt and which could be put into the scabbard like a corkscrew and bent every way without breaking. The best steel in the world today does not come from either Europe or America, but from Fujian.

Sir Walter Scott in his 'Tales of the Crusades' describes a meeting between Richard Cœur de Lion and Saladin, in which the English monarch is made to think that Saladin practices the black art because the latter takes an eider-down pillow from the sofa and causes it to fall in two pieces by drawing his keen blade across it. Travellers in India tell of seeing Hindoos throw handfuls of floss silk into the air and cut them in pieces with their fine-edged sabres. There is no steel made in western workshops of that quality. So, too, with the art of glass cutting. It was supposed thirty years ago that there were no ancient glass factories, but the Pompeian excavations revealed a workshop full of ground glass, window-glass, cut glass, and colored glass of every variety.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER.

SHOWING HOW A SUFFERER FROM SCIATICA WAS CURED.

A Correspondent of the Orillia News-Letter With Permission From the Author Makes the Letter Public—it Will be Gladly Read by Other Sufferers From This Painful Malady.

From the Orillia News-Letter. The following letter has been forwarded us by the Coldwater, Ont., correspondent of the News-Letter, which we have great pleasure in publishing:

COLDWATER, Sept. 25th, 1896. A few weeks ago I became very unwell from an attack of sciatica, and remembering that a while ago a well known friend of mine, Mr. C. T. Hopson, of Fesserton, a few miles from here, had been a great sufferer from this painful complaint, I thought it would be well to consult that gentleman as to the medicine he gives credit to for his relief and cure, as I was aware that he was now well and hearty and had ever since been in steady work among lumber—his regular business. He gave me the information required, and wrote out the following testimonial which he desired to have published in any way I think proper; hoping that it will meet the eye of many sufferers like myself who are anxious to get relief. I therefore forward it to you to publish:

FESSERTON, Sept. 18th, 1896. "It is with the greatest pleasure that I testify to the marvellous benefit and cure that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effected in my case. In the year 1892 I was taken very bad with sciatica. I was treated at different times by two doctors but dispensed with their services as I found I was not getting the hoped for relief. I then tried different remedies advertised as a cure for sciatica, but with no better result. Then I tried strongly recommended electrical appliances, but still to no purpose. I did not improve any and the pain was excruciating, and I began to lose all hope of ever getting better. I could not sit down or move about without suffering intense pain, and the only relief I could get was when I lay down with my legs stretched straight out and then the pain was somewhat less. I was in this position one day when I picked up a newspaper lying by my side and there I read of a man cured of sciatica by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Always having but little faith in proprietary medicines, and in view of the experience I already had, I would not have tried them but for the fact that my wife insisted on going at once and procuring some. She got a box and persuaded me to take them. By the time I had finished the box I believe I felt better, so I kept on taking the pills and by the time I had taken six boxes I was cured. I had been laid up for four months before taking Pink Pills, and I shall continue to take them occasionally as I know them to be an excellent medicine. I shall never cease recommending them. Yours truly, CHARLES T. HOPSON. Our correspondent adds that this letter is from a much respected resident of Fesserton whose word is generally considered as good as a bond.
