The public interest in the subject is confined to the bearing of the cost of newsprint upon the finished product. the newspaper. Treating the daily journal as an essential commodity of modern life, it will readily be admitted that cost and selling price are regulated by precisely the same factors as determine the price of bread, clothing, fuel, rent, and scores of other things. Bank-ruptcy must follow fast in the wake of a policy fixing the selling price below the cost of goods. Neither paper manufacturers nor newspaper publishers are exempt from this maxim, and so with the ascending items of cost there must come an increase in the price of the product if the business is to survive, the occupation to con tinue. The working of this immutable law has already both in the United States and Canada caused the suspension of many newspapers and an in-crease in the sale price of a still larger number. Newspapers formerly sold at one cent now cost the buyer two cents, and those that were issued at two cents have been advanced to three cents. With newsprint at 3.45 cents a pound the way of the publisher becomes more difficult. White paper is not by any means the sole element entering into the cost of a newspaper; wages, tele-graphic service, rent, and a score of other items enter into the matter; and all of these have mounted in cost very greatly in the last four or five years, so that when the public are required to pay an additional cent for what still remains, when compared with its value, the cheapest article procurable, the market assured by reason of Canada's preponderating supply of pulpwood. The American price can be determined by regulation only in that country, but the Canadian Government or the Paper Commissioner can order that foreign publishers shall not obtain their news-print below the price to Canadian publishers; any other course will cause in-stant and persistent protest. Along the Along the whole line of work the laborer is worthy of his hire, from the woodman who fells the tree, the railways transporting it to mill, the manufacturer who converts it into paper, to the pub-lisher who produces the newspaper and there is but one limitation prop-erly to be imposed, namely, that the profits arising from the intermediate and ultimate process shall not be un-duly excessive.

The contention that the price of newsprint should be kept low, in the interest of the public, is not convinc-ing. It has even been urged that the Government should bonus the industry, or produce a supply of cheap news-print in a commandeered mill for the benefit of publishers, and a deal of rhetorical rot has been written about the supreme importance of keeping the price of newspapers within the means of the masses. The value of the news-paper needs no preachment; it has long been the mental pabulum of all sorts and conditions of men, and has become so essential to all of whatever degree that it can no more be dispensed with than physical food and raiment And the individual who measures his intelligence, information and patriot-ism at the price of one cent a day is not destined to shape to any noticeable degree the affairs of a country.
