ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A SUBSCRIBER:—The hair should be shampooed once a month, or, if very oily, once in three weeks. A good mixture is made of the yolk of an egg, a teaspoonful of green soap, a teaspoonful of cologne and a cupful of hot water. Stir these ingredients together, and then apply thoroughly to the roots of the hair with a shampooing brush, the hair being divided into small partings for the purpose. The lather is stiff and will not run down into the face and eyes. When the scalp has been thoroughly cleansed the soap should be washed out and the hair washed, rinsed and dried as quickly as possible. This can be done by rubbing it with a towel while the head is held near the stove; the brisk friction of the towel is excellent for the scalp and prevents the cold one is liable to contract if the hair is left to dry by evaporation. Aside from fevers and microbes, there are other causes of thinness of hair residing on the scalp itself. The oil glands with which the scalp is supplied may not secrete properly; there may be accumulations of dandruff which choke up the hair follicles, or the circulation may be impaired and the hair insufficiently nourished. We would advise consulting a specialist.

TASMA:—A square hall may be treated in many ways though certain fixed principles must be observed. Although a square hall may become a living-room, made especially attractive by an open fireplace, it must never be given the same air of familiarity as the other living-rooms. A hall is a place of movement, not repose, and despite its cosy corners and easy leather chairs, it must always have a certain air of reserve and dignity. Cabinets, if placed here, should be filled with large "specimens," not the tiny curios the examination of which requires prolonged attention.

SAPPHIRE:—To make elder-flower water, proceed as follows: Pluck the flowers and cut off the stalks close up to the blossoms, placing the latter in a large earthenware jar. Fill the jar with hot but not boiling water and allow it to stand for twenty-four hours, then strain through a muslin bag. Cucumber juice may be expressed from ripe cucumbers.

BLANCHE:—Stains made by wax, resin, turpentine and other substances of a resinous nature may be removed by pure alcohol applied with a clean sponge. The stains should be moistened with the alcohol and allowed to stand for a few minutes; then apply more alcohol with a sponge, using a slight rubbing motion; after which wipe as dry as possible; then thoroughly dry the cloth in the open air.
