

the exception that for local municipal convenience, the tenth and eleventh ranges are united with Ham.

The last census gives it a population of 354 English speaking, and 1,118 French Canadian inhabitants.