Don't Drink and Drive!

By Christian Lévesque
Brunswickan Staff

For the first time in over a dozen years, not one Fredericton motorist was charged with impaired driving on New Year's Eve - a period between noon December 31 to noon January 1.

Overall in 1986, breathalyser-related offences were almost a quarter lower than in 1985. In 1986, there were 450 drivers charged with impaired-driving offences in Fredericton while in 1985, there were 574 motorists charged.

When a driver registers between 50 and 80 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood on the alert test, his driving permit is suspended for 24 hours with no criminal charges laid. A higher alcohol level can result in criminal charges being laid, a fine, and a three month suspension of his drivers license for the first offence.
