

whereas He would have us empty of self and filled with Him, which is the highest form of love and the end of all religion. They who aspire to it make their daily life a preparation for their daily Communion.

