

WHAT CAN SHE DO?

Price, $1.50.

"The moral purpose of this book is amply worthy of the author's zeal. It is that young women should be educated in such a way that if left without money they shall be able to support themselves. Mr. Roe is especially severe on our American vice of 'pride of occupation.'"—N. Y. Evening Post.

"We consider that parents are indebted to the author for the most practical story of the day."—Philadelphia Age.

"His works have an honest, healthy tone, and a purpose. His narrative is full of interest—in the present case unusually so. We must not forget in particular to allude to his always charming bits of country life; his gardening at once poetic and profitable."—N. Y. Evening Express.

"The narrative is fascinating."—Chicago Advance.

"An exceedingly well-written story."—Churchman.

OPENING OF A CHESTNUT BURR.

Price, $1.50.

"In The Opening of a Chestnut Burr, Mr. Roe has made a marked advance upon his two previous stories. He has already exhibited a remarkable power of description, which in this volume he uses with good effect in the scenes of fire and shipwreck. It is thoroughly religious, thoroughly Christian both in tone and teaching."—Harper's Magazine.

"The character of the selfish, morbid, cynical hero, and his gradual transformation under the influence of the sweet and high-spirited heroine, are portrayed with a masculine firmness, which is near akin to power, and some of the conversations are animated and admirable."—Atlantic Monthly.

"The most able story that we have had from the pen of Mr. Roe. It is also the best of the so-called religious novels published of late."—The Christian Union.

"There are many stirring and dramatic scenes in the story, while its quieter phases are not wanting in grace and sweetness."—Boston Traveler.

"Mr. Roe has laid out his greatest power in depicting the character of the heroine, who is a model of saintly purpose and ardent piety without losing the peculiar charms of female loveliness. He is strong in his delineation of character. All his personages have a clear, sharp-cut individuality, and make a fresh and deep impression on the reader."—New York Tribune.
