wart sons of old Erin met to hold an able and eloquent indignation meeting of considerable moment.

It appears that last summer R. M. Thompson and G. M. Baird, with characteristic enterprise organized the Irish picnic with a view of assisting the public library. It was thought advisable, however, to keep the library project in the back-ground and work up the enthusiasm as an Irish picnic to the Eau. This was carried out, committees were formed and the outing brought to a successful culmination. The committees share of the proceeds some $500 were forwarded by the L. E. & D.R.R. to the treasurer, R. M. Thompson, and a meeting held R. M. Thompson, and a meeting held shortly after, where the first hitch is alleged to have occurred. Some of the stalwart Irish committee men were "agin the government" and the idea of appropriating the funds the proceeds to the Library was vociferously opposed. Finally, however, the following grants were made:—$150 to to the Blenheim Public Libraary, $30 to the Chatham hospitals, for which they claim, they received not the slightest acknowledgment, and $10 each to Messrs. Thompson and Baird for their work. The trouble occurred over the remaining surplus of some $250, which, it is alleged, the treasurer would only pay to the library.

The first meeting of the indignation party was held some time ago, when they elected new officers and deposed the old treasurer and his colleagues. It was decided that it would be loyal and patriotic to forward the surplus to the widows and orphans of the victims of the war from Ireland. Capt. Shaw therefore communicated with the Globe, and was instructed that the Shaw therefore communicated with the Globe, and was instructed that the proper way to do this was to send the cheque to the Lord Lieutenant of the Island.

"But," declares the captain. "we haven't got the money, and that's why we're meeting to-night. Oh, I tell you there'll be a stormy time."
"And was your picnic a success?" asked The Planet.
"A success? Why it was a howling success. There were about a dozen kids smothered, a boy lost his leg and a man was killed at Dresden."
C. L. VonGunten, with his Scottish Puritan views, says the trouble is C. L. VonGunten, with his Scottish Puritan, views, says the trouble is caused by the Irishmen breaking faith with their patrons. "You advertised a Donnybrook fair," he told Capt. Shaw last night, "and you didn't give it. Now you're going to have a regular, full-fledged Donnybrook to-aight when it isn't advertised. It's not fair to the people."

Capt. Shaw says that no derisive Scotch jests will swerve him from his present purpose.

An English traveller got off the G T. R. train last evening and was walk-ing down Queen St. The electric light glistened on the muddy water on the pavement and the Britisher thought he had struck a navigable stream. He was looking around for means of crossing when Ross Ball happened along.

"By Jove, I cawn't find the bridge don't you know," said the stranger, "I wish you would point it out to me."

'There's no bridge, "said the Chathamite, "the stream is fordable and you will have to wade."

With a look of resignation and an apditional hitch in his trousers the unknown went into the depths. Whether he ever came out again is not known as he has not been seen since.
