A WOMAN'S QUICK EYE.

It Was the Means of Gaining a Fortune at Monte Carlo.

Nearly every one who has been to Monte Carlo has heard of "Mamma" Vland, a little, bent old French woman, a widow, who played for years. "Mamma" Vland played roulette each day from morning until night. Her beady eyes, twitching nervously, saw nothing but the ivory ball as it fell into the cell. As they watched her staggering from the gaming tables late at night people pitied her.

Her whole soul, her life, seemed absorbed in the awful desire of winning. The old woman at times lost heavily—for her; then she regained her losses. For a long time she was enabled to live and continue her feverish pursuit of the game.

One night the old woman lost nearly all her store. As she passed from the table, despair in her eyes, her attention was attracted by another wheel. She stopped and bent over the table. Again and again the wheel spun around and stopped. The old woman's eyes sparkled. A flush suffused her pallid cheeks.

As she left the room she clapped her hands, and her laugh—a shrill, mocking chuckle—started the gamblers as ominous, uncanny.

"Better watch the old woman!" one of the official lookouts told a detective. He followed "Mamma" Vland to her hotel. He listened outside of her door. There was no alarming sound. In a short while she extinguished her lights and evidently had retired.

The following evening she reappeared in the gaming hall. Her eyes still sparkled; her cheeks were still flushed. With her were several notorious gamblers. They approached a table. "Mamma" Vland began to play.

She won. The gamblers, who had loaned her money, watched. She played a second time and won and a third time and won. The gamblers looked on amazed and saw the old woman raking in thousands of francs.

During the evening the old woman sat by the table, playing persistently. Her winnings doubled, trebled, quadrupled and piled up about her.

The management became alarmed. A consultation was held. Special detectives were sent to watch her. Scores had gathered about the table, looking on breathlessly at her wonderful run of luck. The detectives reported to the management that "Mamma" Vland was playing a certain combination of numbers that invariably won.

One of the directors besought the old woman to desist playing. The bank would be broke, he declared. She smiled and continued to play.

The director offered her $50,000 to cease playing. He doubled the figure if she would tell him the secret of her success. He implored her to take $200,000, $250,000, only cease waging her successful battle for gold.

Finally he offered her $300,000. Accepting this, "Mamma" Vland, gathering together her fortune, told him very quietly that in passing the table the night before her quick eye had detected that the ball of this particular wheel stopped at a certain place at regular intervals. The managers examined the wheel, found that it was out of order and congratulated themselves upon having compromised with the old woman.

Idleness, like industry, is catching.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A man generally loses his credit about the time he loses his money.

No liar really cares to have you going around testifying to his character; besides, it isn't always safe for you.

Some people talk as if labor were the only great and glorious good, but we notice that they only talk that way.

Possession is nine points in law, but the price to pay the lawyer is a tenth that beats the other nine.

The race generally is to the man who knows how to fix it.

Some people are too amiable ever to be very busy.

Failures don't count with anybody except the man who has to pay for them.

Ideals somehow always have a way of connecting themselves entirely with future deals.

There is no new thing under the sun, so be sure that your recent foolishness has had its prototype.

There is hope for the man who actively doesn't enjoy being ashamed of himself.

The Saving Grace.

If you have a thousand dollars When arrested for a crime, There is very little danger Of your ever doing time. Leastwise, not until the able And persuasive legal limbers, Edith and Elizabeth, and the sons, Alonzo and Douglas.

Justice wears a heavy bandage Bound securely round its eyes That it may not see the color Of the prisoner or his size, But, though this blindfold arrangement Balks it when it wants to wink, It has ears attuned, they tell me, For the silver dollar's clink.

In this land where all are equal Justice, so they say, is free. Still at times you have to buy it As you would a pound of tea. For the fellow gets the limit, All the time and sixty days, If he goes into the courtroom Without cash to grease the ways.

Money makes the mare, they tell us, Trot or canter, walk or pace. Should the legal coils enmesh you, Money is the saving grace. If you bump into a statute, You can tell it to sidle, For some great and good attorney Will be charmed to see you through.

Financial Expert.

"That is a very energetic young man."
"Yes; he attends strictly to his business."
"What is his business?"
"Keeping his father's money in circulation."
"What did he die of?"
"I don't know."
"Perhaps it was appendicitis."
"Oh, no, I am sure it was nothing as expensive as that."

The Train For Him.

"How do you like your cousin who is visiting you?"
"He is the limit."
"Then why don't you send him home on the limited?"

Of Course.

"I wish I knew what I want."
"I can tell you."
"Well, what?"
"The first thing you find that you can't have."

Great Bargains.

"Every man has his price."
"Yes, and that is not the worst of it."
"What is?"
"They are mostly cut prices."

In Wrong Place.

"I just met Hillson in a saloon."
"Did he shake you for the drinks?"
"No; he worked me for the drinks and shook me afterward."

Fettered.

Fashion is a foolish dame Who tries to make us silly. Sometimes we kick, but, just the same, She gets us willy nilly.

Not Even Safe.

"Is it possible for a man to love two women at the same time?"
"Possible, but not practical."

Far From It.

"Did you take the limited?"
"Well, not exactly. The train I came on was the limit."

More Up to Date.

"I understand she left him in a huff."
"No; she left him in an automobile."

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

Readily Yield to Soothing, Healing Treatment of Hyomei.

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomach dosing. They are caused by irritation in the air passages and can be relieved and cured by medicated air alone. In this lies the secret of the great success of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of bronchial troubles.

The Hy-o-mei medication, laden with nature's remedies, is breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaching every part of the bronchial tubes and killing at once the disease germs. It allays all irritation and heals the inflammation of the mucous membrane with astonishing rapidity.

Treatment with sprays, douches and atomizers in bronchial troubles is condemned by the best physicians, as they cause further irritation.

The first breath of Hy-o-mei's medicated air seems to soothe the inflammation, stop the cough, and thus relief soon becomes permanent and a cure results.

Hy-o-mei has made many remarkable cures in the worst and most chronic forms of bronchial troubles and is sold by C. H. Gunn & Co., with the same guarantee as they give when Hy-o-mei is purchased from them. It always is, to refund the money does not give satisfaction. The complete outfit costs but $1.00.

TRAGEDY AT DEATH BED.

Man Shoots His Brothers and Sisters—One May Die.

Versailles, France, July 29.—Henry H. Huntington, son of Douglas St. George Huntington, former attaché of the American embassy in Paris, was arrested here last night on the charge of shooting his two sisters and one of his brothers. The condition of the sisters was said to be serious.

The tragedy occurred at the bedside of the father, who was dying. Henry had returned to ask his father's forgiveness after having been estranged from his parents for some time past. Mr. Huntington, Sr., was suffering from pulmonary consumption, and as it was believed that he was near death a telegram was despatched to Henry to return. The latter hurried to the bedside, around which were grouped the weeping wife, the daughter, Edith and Elizabeth, and the sons, Alonzo and Douglas.

Henry pleaded for forgiveness for the sorrow he had caused, and had received his father's blessing, when Douglas requested him to seek the pardon of his mother also. This Henry declined to do, and thereupon Alonzo asked him to leave the room.

According to the police, Henry drew out a revolver and fired at Alonzo. He then wheeled and shot both his sisters and his brother Huntington, and endeavored to make his escape. He was captured, however, by a guard who ran into the house to investigate the cause of the shooting. Henry, Huntington, Sr., who is 60 years of age, survived the shock of the tragic scene, but at midnight was sinking rapidly and was not expected to survive the night. The sister, Elizabeth, is dying from a wound over the heart.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famous "Golden Medical Discovery" for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots and herbs known in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical experts of the world.

Dr. J. C. Jackson and Dr. W. D. Hoagland, who have written on "Golden Medical Discovery" as follows: "This is a medicine of the highest quality, and one that will cure all the diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and all the ailments of the system."

It has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients of this "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompanied with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or chronic coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated, are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stage. No medicine will. It will cure all affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

Calamity is virtue's opportunity.

Miss Edna Bullis is visiting with Eriean friends.
Miss Dot Smith and Miss Velma Stone are guests at Happy Days.
Mr. Roy Brisco spent Sunday with friends on the bar.
Miss Jennie Paxton is the guest of Miss Thompson at Beverley Lodge.
Miss Ferguson, of Thamesville, and her nieces, the little Misses Jean, Duncan and Margaret Langford, came to Eriean on Saturday en route for their cottage at Government Park.

A new smoke-stack has been erected on Mr. Park's boat house. This carries off the smoke, enabling them to fire up the "Ripple" inside the boat house.
Miss Helen Teskey, who has been spending the past week with a party of Chatham girls at the Bungalow, returned home to-day.

Mrs. W. R. Fellows and children spent Sunday in Blenheim.
Glady and Helen Barfoot, of Dunfermline, spent Saturday with Mrs. W. H. Lugsdin at Ben Oben.
Mr. C. H. Gunn was an Eriean visitor on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. McGregor and Miss McGregor, of King street west, spent Sunday at the Eau.

Miss Lella Crookshank, of Blenheim, spent Friday at the Eau.
Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lewis were guests at Osceola yesterday.

Garnet Slagg, of Chatham, is spending a few days at the Eau.
"Ted" Bogart wound up a successful two weeks fishing in the bay by catching three large pike on Saturday. The largest was about three feet two inches.

Mr. McKay, manager of the coal hoist, and Mr. J. M. Park, of Chatham, went to Chatham on the gas-line jigger yesterday morning. The large coal hoist has been repaired and Mr. James Park, the expert of Park Bros. foundry, returned with the party to assist in putting it together. It is expected that the hoist will be working again the beginning of the week.

Mr. Manson Campbell has had the long grass cut between his cottage at the lake. Quite a number of the cottagers have pulled up the grass altogether, but Mr. Campbell is the first to cut the grass. The green makes a pleasant change.

Is it because the ratepayers are objecting that nothing is heard of a new north side walk.

ERIEAU

Eriean, July 29.—Mrs. Handy, of Blenheim, is spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. W. R. Fellows, at the lighthouse.

Capt. McLeod, of the Bessemer, and Mr. Will Bennett caught a big string of pike yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman and Miss Irene Newman, of Ridgeway, returned home this morning after a pleasant holiday. Miss Newman was the guest of Mrs. Jack Sheldon during a part of her stay here.

Mr. Lawrence Clark, of Cleveland, returned home on Saturday via "City of Detroit" after a fortnight's stay at the lighthouse.

Mr. Charles Ordish left for his home in Toledo on Friday, having spent three weeks with his uncle, Mr. Charles Mallory, at the Lake View House.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morgan and daughter, Nora, who have spent the past few weeks at their cottage, returned to the city this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, William street, have rented Langollan Lodge for the balance of the season.

"Ike" Murphy took a number of young ladies from the Bungalow out in the "Archer" on Saturday evening. Among those on board were noticed the Misses Teskey, Hollinrake, Rutledge, Hillman and Carson.

Mrs. Geo. J. McKeough and Miss McKeough came out on Saturday evening to Clearview.

Mr. Fleming and a party from Blenheim took the Togo over to his shooting lodge near Indian Creek yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Merritt spent Sunday at Mr. W. J. Bennett's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Burke and daughter Alice are guests of Mrs. W. Hall. Mr. Will Hubble, of St. Thomas, is the guest of Mr. J. B. Stringer.

Mr. Will Shillington was a guest at the Bungalow over Sunday.

Miss Mary McDougall is a visitor at Hazeldeane.

At some resorts it is said that bathers line the beach most of the day in picture bathing suits and are to be found either rolling in the sand a few feet from the shore or in a few inches' depth of water.

Not so at Eriean. Here most of the girls are expert swimmers and divers and go about it in a very business-like manner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Piggett were visitors at Mrs. Manson Campbell's on Sunday.

As the earth is now passing through that part of its orbit where the greatest number of shooting stars are visible, many beautiful ones can be seen on any clear evening. There was a fine display of northern lights also to be seen on Saturday night.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Fisher were at the Bungalow for the week-end.

The crowd at "Happy Days" had a large bon-fire on the beach on Saturday evening and refreshments were served.

Miss Louise Hillman has joined the gay party of young ladies at the Bungalow.

Miss Edna Bullis is visiting with Eriean friends.

Miss Dot Smith and Miss Velma Stone are guests at Happy Days.
