DAINTY PIN TRAY.

Make It of Cardboard or of Heavy Water Color Paper.

From cardboard or heavy water col or paper cut a circle a bit larger than a tumbler top, hold it firmly over the a tumbler top, note it armly over the tumbler and press into the shape of a little plate by pinching every inch or so bits of the cardboard that extend over the tumbler edge. This gives a little scallop effect. With water colors or gilt paint tint the edge and scatter forgetmenots, violets or stars over the inside, and you have a dainty little pin tray, writes a contributor to Good Housekeeping.

A comb and brush tray can be made ta the same manner by pressing the corners into shape over a box cover, book or small meat platter of the desired size. A pretty little puff box can be made by covering with the card-board one of the pasteboard rolls on which the ribbons are wound, removing one end to be used as a cover. A set of these prettily decorated makes an acceptable gift for a friend who is going to the seashore or mountains for the summer, and as they can be packed perfectly flat they are never left be-hind for lack of room.

Cheap Social Ideals.

The extravagance and vulgarity of The extravagance and vulgarity of modern society are due to many causes, but none of them can be traced to the influx of Colonials at any rate from Canada and Australasia. Of South Africans and Americans as much cannot be said. The latter, in particular, hold perhaps the cheapest social ideal of any great people of whom we have any record, for it aims at nothing higher than "having a good time." Moved by it, women strive only to outdo one another in dress, inventiveness, and display.—Contemporary Review.

Answering an inquiry for a remedy for split hoof and also for brittle hoofs, M. D. Williams, D. V.
