Poetry.

MANHOOD.

He stands the test where souls are tried,
And truest honor finds,

Who conquers, manfully, the pride
That rules in feeble minds;

Who seeks not rest in life's career
Nor yet beyond the grave;

Whose heaven is duty's noblest sphere—
Not that which idlers crave.

He covets not the lordling's place,
Nor vainly strives to scan

The Master's mind, but asks for grace
To do the best he can.

His peace is not the torpor of the soul.
But harmony within—

Renouncing self to reach the goal
And triumph over sin.

Once on the plough his hand he lays,
His eyes ne'er backward turn;

Forging he seeks in virtue's way,
Ill bought success he spurns.

Looking his fellow in the face,
He sees God's image there;

Whate'er may help to lift the race
His hand is quick to share.

Meekly he takes life's daily tasks
As part of heaven's great plan;

This down-sought he denied—he asks
To be a manly man.

Angels attend on such an one,
And stars their courses move

To light his pathway to throne
And garnish it with love.

HIS NEW BROTHER.

Say, I've got a little brother,
Never teased to have him, nuther,

But he's here;

They just went ahead and bought him,
And, last week the doctor brought him,

Wasn't that queer?

When I heard the news from Molly
Why, I thought at first 'twas jolly,

'Cause, you see,
I sposed I could go and get him

And then mamma, course, would let him
Play with me.

But when I had once looked at him,
"Why!" I says "My eyes, is that him?"

Just that mite!

They said "Yes" and "Ain't he cunning?"
And I thought they must be funn—"

He's a sight!

He's so small, it's just amazin',
And you'd think that he was blasin',

He's so red;

And his nose as like a berry,
And he's bald as Uncle Jerry

On his head.

Why he ain't worth a dollar!
All he does is cry and holler

More and more.

Won't sit up; you can't arrange him—
I don't see why he can't change him

At the store.

Now we've got to dress and feed him,
And we really didn't need him

More a frog.

Why'd they buy a baby brother
When they'd know I'd good deal rather

Have a dog?

"DO-IT-NOW" "WAIT-A-WHILE."

Little Mistress "Wait-a-while,"

In the village of Old Style,
Unhooked gown and slippers feet,
Gazing at the idle street.

Little Master "Do-It-Now,"

Passing, sees with his best bow;
"Go with me by cheerful ways
To the town of Modern Days."

"There is work for us to do;
And if each to each is true,
There we'll build a pleasant home,
You and I; and what's to come."

"I'm not ready," she replied;
"And I'll wait till I can ride."

The she moved to hide her gown,
And her hair came tumbling down.

With regret the lad passed on;
With regret the maid sat down;
He to work, and do, and dare;
She to worry, fret and care.

In the town of "Modern Days"
Each one tells me, each one says
Happy dwells bright "Do-It-Now,"
With his wife, sweet "I-Know-How."

In the village of "Old Style"
Lovers still miss "Wait-a-While,"
Unhooked gown and slippers feet,
Gazing at the idle street.

RUTH.

"Entreat me not to leave thee,"
Were ever words more sweet?

They speak of woman's love sublime,
Faith rounded and complete.

"Whither thou goest I will go, Thy people shall be mine,"
No shirking back from unknown paths,
But sacrifice divine.

"If aught but death part me and thee Thy lord lay heavy hand,"
A woman's love endureth all—
All sorrow will withstand.

And Ruth still lives to bless the world,
In millions of sweet homes.

And still at faith and duty's call O'er desert sands she roams.

True to the last she standeth firm
When all else shrinks away.

And sees through sad and gloomy cloud,

The coming of the day.

And when death's messenger to me
The last sad message bears,
Oh, let my soul ascend to God,
Bright with a woman's prayers!

A Domestic Remedy.

A strong decoction of dried camomile flowers is recommended to be used as a hot fomentation in cases of severe pain.
It is very soothing for a gathering inside the mouth, and severe neuralgic pains in the face are often relieved by using it.

Make two tannin bags and fill them lightly with boiled flowers. Squeeze one bag and apply it as hot as it can be borne to the painful part, covering with warm dry flannel folded twice. When this bag gets cold change with the second bag, which should be kept steaming between two plates in the oven. Keep repeating this until the pain is relieved.

How to Utilize Buttermilk.

The housewives who always use sweet milk and baking powder in articles where such ingredients or their equivalents are called for little guess the superior results which may be obtained from the use of sour buttermilk and soda. If sour milk is used it must be freshly soured, not stale; hence, the best time to use it is in the summer time. Buttermilk is preferable all the year round. Biscuits, griddle-cakes, waffles, cornbreads, muffins, gams, gingerbread, cookies, etc., are all of them more tender, delicate and probably more wholesome (since the majority of baking powders are adulterated) if they are made of buttermilk and soda.

A general rule is one level teaspoonful of soda to one pint of buttermilk or freshly soured milk. The soda must be first pulverized by rubbing with a knife on the table or bread board, then added to the flour, to be sifted with it. It is even well to sift the flour, soda and salt together two or three times to insure an even blending. In a very short time one learns to gauge the soda exactly to the acidity of the milk to be used. Baking powder cannot give the best results in the class of articles enumerated.—Woman's Home Companion.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge), a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address.

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON,
Brooklyn, New York

29-177.

Thus they were Married.

An exchange prints the following marriage ceremony, which was said by a Tennessee squire a short time ago:

"Will thou take her for thy pard, for better or for worse; to have, to hold,
to fondly guard till hauled off in a hearse?"

Will thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes, make the fire every day and help her wash the dishes?

Will thou comfort and support her father and mother, Aunt Jemima and Uncle John, three sisters and a brother."

And his face grew pale and blank; it was too late to jilt; as through the floor he sank he said, "I will."

"Oh, mamma," said little Tommy at a concert the other night, while the cornet-ist was rendering a difficult solo, "just hear the man, how he stutters through his trumpet."

Wheat bran is one of the best and cheapest foods for chickens, and emitenly healthful. More bran and less corn would improve almost any flock. A richer food is bran and chops mixed, but, where whole corn is fed at evening, bran and oats mixed and fed wet is better for the morning meal.

Cook's Penetrating Plaster.

Actor-Pugilist—Say, wot do you really think of my actin'?

Critic—Well—if you don't mind, I should prefer to tell you over the telephone.

Jimmie—Say, Bill, your paw's callin' yer.

Willie—Did he say Willie or William?

Jimmie—He said William Henry.

Willie—Good-by.

A woman whose pastor asked after her health replied dolefully:

I feel very well; but I always feel bad when I feel well because I know I'm going to feel worse afterwards."
