by manure and protected with mulch.

A good aneodote has lately crossed the ocean, of an American girl who was playing eroquet in England last summer. What a horrid scratch! said she indignated in the said of the duty, and she missed her shot. "Op, my dear," said an English courin, "you should not use such slang expressions." "What should I have said!" asked the American. "You might have said," answored the English maiden, after canswored the English maiden, after canswored the rocabulary for a perfectly unexceptionable phrase—"you might have said, "What a beastly fluke!"
