Personal Interest.

In the House of Assembly yesterday a bill, entitled "An Act to Incorporate the Conception Bay Electric Company, and for Other Purposes," was in Committee of the Whole.

It appears that under one of the clauses of the bill, it was proposed to grant the Company the exclusive use of Collier's River for water power.

The Daily News this morning makes a report on the proceedings in these words:—

"The bill to incorporate the Conception Bay Electric Company went into Committee, and a lengthy discussion followed. The principal opposition to it came from the members for Harbor Main, who objected to the Company being granted the exclusive use of Collier's River for water power. It was subsequently decided to omit this section from the bill, and the Company will have to apply for a specific power in the ordinary way. The bill amended passed Committee stage, and will be read a third time to-day.'

The feature to which we direct attention is the statement "the principal opposition to it came from the members for Harbor Main, who objected to the Company being granted the exclusive use of Collier's River for water Power."

Now the presumption that arises in such cases is that every member who takes part in particular proceedings in the House of Assembly does so on public grounds, and not on personal grounds. This presumption is especially strong in the case of a member who takes a principal part in a discussion. This course of conduct is based on a well-known principle for the guidance of members of parliament, and even were there no rule in the case, propriety would dictate the observance of such a rule.

In the case under reference we find that the opponents gained their points and the clause in question was dropped.

One of the two members for Harbor Main is Mr. J. J. Murphy, and in the Royal Gazette, of April 1st and April 8th, appears the following

NOTICE:

One month after the date hereof, application will be made to His Excellency the Governor in Council for the right to use the Waters of the Main River running into the Riverhead of Colliers, in the District of Harbor Main, for the purpose of Driving Machinery, together with all lakes and streams tributary to the said River.

J. J. MURPHY.

St. John's, March 29th, 1913.

How comes it about that Mr. J. J. Murphy is an applicant for this water power and having this personal interest in it, was discussing this very matter in the House of Assembly against clear parliamentary propriety?

At the House.

Yesterday several petitions were presented by Mr. Woodford, Hon. R. Watson and Mr. LeFeuvre, for various utilities. Mr. Clift presented a petition from the members of the Fishermen's Protective Union, New Bay, praying for various public services and he gave the matter his hearty support.

Hon. R. Watson presented the report of the Select Committee on the petition of the Northern Electric Co., to be incorporated. The Bill was read a first time. The Speaker notified the House that the Council had passed the Dominion Trust Co's Bill, the Merchant Shipping and Medical Bills, without amendment. The Encouragement of Shipbuilding Act was passed with an amendment.

The Inter-Colonial Development Co., Public Service Bills passed their third reading and in Committee the Act to Incorporate the Conception Bay Electric Co., was opposed by the members for Harbor Main, who objected to the company getting the exclusive right to Collier's River, for water power. This section was then dropped from the Bill. Thus amended the Bill passed through the Committee stage and the House adjourned.

The Senate's attitude toward President Wilson and the new tariff became faintly defined after another meeting with Democratic members of the finance committee. Briefly the Senate committee agree to accept view of the President as to free wool, one cent sugar with free in three years attachment, but will exercise the right to amend other schedules provisions tariff Bill. The fight against free wool becomes more acute at both ends of Capitol. Several State delegations House are appealing to Democratic Senators for support in fight to retain some of the duty.

LONDON, To-day.

As an answer to the Government's Cat and Mouse Bill, fifteen thousand pounds was added to our war-chest to-night, said Mrs. Flora Drummond, closing a suffragette meeting in Albert Hall, over which she presided. It was the biggest meeting ever held by the Women's Social and Political Union. The subscriptions included two for £1,500 each. Among American contributors were Mrs. August Belmont, and Mrs. J. J. White, New York; Miss Scott Troy, San Francisco. Great laughter greeted the announcement of a subscription of half a crown accompanied by a bogus note signed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lloyd George. The note read: —"I have great pleasure presenting to you my first dividend from my Marconi Wireless shares." Opening the meeting Mrs. Drummond said, fight on, that is the message Mrs. Pankhurst would send us from Holloway jail, where she is unable to get out; fight on is what we intend to.

LONDON, To-day.

Indications of a peaceful Balkan settlement continue favorable. The Belgrade correspondent of the Daily Telegraph asserts that Servia has decided on Russia's advice to withdraw all Servian troops now investing Scutari. The international blockade of coast between Antivari and Drin River began at eight o'clock on Thursday morning. All ships within the blockade were allowed forty-eight hours in which to depart. The Russian Government issued a long document last night, explaining the efforts of the Powers to arrange a settlement of the Balkan problem and justifying Russia's consent to the annexation of Scutari to Albania, on the grounds that this was necessary to perserve peace, because Scutari is purely an Albanian town, the annexation of which by Montenegro would only prove a source of embarrasment and difficulty, weakening instead of strengthening Montenegro. In the communication it is charged that King Nicholas broke an engagement into which he entered secure Russia's consent before resorting to war and adds, Nevertheless the Russian Emperor magnanimously assisted Montenegro to attain legitimately her aims, warned King Nicholas the pursuance of personal aims in respect to Scutari would only condemn his people to useless massacre. These warnings he ignored, apparently because King Nicholas believed that continued resistance would embroil Russia and the Greater Powers in European war.

This Old World.

"This world is but a dismal place, a desert sad and dreary." So Croaker says, with long drawn face, and Croaker makes me weary. I've hung around this good old sphere for two score years and twenty, and found that things are pleasant here, and there is joy aplenty. Although Brer Croaker tears his robe and talks like some soured prophet, he will not leave this gay old globe until we push him off it. I've noticed that the chaps who roast this world wherein we're dwelling, and sigh to join the shining host where anthems aye are swelling, when called away, put up a roar, and naught their grief can soften; they hate to leave this punk old shore that they've abused so often. I like to think that when we die to Aidenn we'll be wending, and sing beneath a cloudless sky, in happiness unending. However glorious the land for which (I hope) we're headed, we shouldn't knock this mundane strand where we are now homesteaded. I hope to have a harp that's pearled, and keep that harp a-humming, but while I loaf around this world I have no kick a-coming.

Johnson's Shaving Cream is open to none of the objections commonly advanced against toilet articles of this class. It is of the right consistence, neither so soft as to be wasteful in use, nor so firm as to be difficult to work up into a lather. In fact it gives a lather which is very abundant and free, and which renders the beard easily amenable to the attentions of the razor. It appears to have no free alkali, and is perfectly unirritating, and will not smart the most sensitive skin. Johnson's Shaving Cream is put up by a firm which has an enviable reputation for purity and elegance of its preparations of all sorts, and will not disappoint the user. Price 25c. a tube.

Cinamon and Formalin Lozenges are exceptionally good in cases of sore throat or colds, and one taken every hour will give great relief. Price 35c. a bottle.

Ethie's Stormy Trip.

The s.s. Ethie, Capt. Parsons, which had been doing the Glencoe's route while that ship was here being repaired, arrived in port from Placentia this morning. The ship met bad weather last evening, and when off Cape Ballard the sea ran mountains high, with a heavy snow storm and a hurricane of N. E. wind. The ship could not breast it and had to run back to Trepassey, which port she left when the weather moderated at 7 p.m. It was very thick and foggy until past midnight.

The Prospero left Burgeo early this morning. On her return she will lay up to be renovated.
