The dental profession and the discriminating public prefer Colgate's for what it does, and does well; and for what it does not do, and makes no claim to do.

Sugar Selling at 16 Cents

New York Markets Glutted and No Bids for Raw at Ten Cents.

New York, Aug. 28.—The sugar markets probably never have been in such chaotic condition as they are at the present time, says the Journal of Commerce. Raw sugars, Cubas, until duties and Porto Ricans have arrived here and holders find it impossible even to get a bid, the result being that the sugars have been placed in store waiting for an improvement in market conditions. It was believed that a bid of 10 cents c.i.f. would be accepted for full duty sugars, but no buyers could be found who would make any bid. It was said that a local refiner bid 9.03 cents c.i.f. for Porto Ricans, then withdrew the bid. Just at the moment the only hope for a more stabilized market appears to be the possibility that Europe will become an active buyer of Cuban raws and American refined sugar. This would tend to relieve the present pressure to some extent.

There was a report circulating in the trade that a large quantity of the Java sugars bought for future shipment to this country had been resold to Europe and would not reach the United States at all. Brokers report a more active inquiry from abroad and a sale was reported of 11,200,000 pounds of Cubas, prompt shipment for France, the price being uncertain and said to be 10½ cents to 10¾ cents f.o.b. Cuba. There was press despatch saying that Brazil had partially lifted the embargo on sugar exports and that upwards of 30,000 bags (9,000,000 pounds) were en route from Santos and Bahia to the United States.

In refined sugar the demand continues poor and no further price changes were reported. Second hand offerings have been pretty well cleaned up around 16 cents to 16½ cents, less 2 per cent.

The Bolsheviks' Real Aim.

The Russians may have all the Soviets they like at home; what we object to is the forcible sovietisation of other peoples. Here is the real crux of the Polish question. The commissaries who accompany the Red Armies have been at their work in Lithuania. Their peace treaty with that State was, on the surface, moderate and fair. But no sooner did they get into Vilna than they established Soviet government in that city, and left a Red garrison to drag the inhabitants into submission to its orders. What guarantee have we that a treaty with Poland will not be made the cover for similar usurpations?—London Daily Telegraph.

Richard Washburn Child, the Harvard lawyer and graduate, has written many articles on politics, national economies and foreign affairs. During the war he spent a great deal of his time in Russia studying conditions. His physical condition dis-qualified him from war service, so he aided in financing the war.

Mainly About People.

It will be interesting to note whether Gilbert Parker, the famous novelist, signs himself hereafter as "Sir Gilbert" or as "Dr. Parker." He gets the right to call himself "Dr." from a degree of LL.D. just conferred on him by Toronto University.

Considerable comment has been made on the fact that a newspaper editor is rare to be elected as the next President of the United States. But the fact seems lost sight of that a former newspaper reporter served as the last Republican president, Mr. Taft was at one time a reporter on the Cincinnati Times and later on the Cincinnati Commercial.

Writing in his book on celebrities of the British Premier's ability to extricate himself from difficult situations, Mr. Isaac Marcossin quotes "one of Lloyd George's closest friends" as saying: "If Lloyd George fell out of an aeroplane at an altitude of ten thousand feet he would not only land safe and smiling, but would discover something of interest and value on the way down."

Very few of the big financial men of America ever express views on passing topics. The names of George F. Baker or J. P. Morgan are never appended to interviews. Frank A. Vanderlip, George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago, Charles M. Schwab and Governor Harding of the reserve system come out periodically with words of caution or optimism, as the occasion demands.

Sir Basil Zaharoff, of London and France, who can match gold, art treasures, castles, estates, ships, banks and commercial enterprises with any Croesus in America, was born in Athens amid the utmost poverty, 65 years ago, the son of a Greek mother and Russian father. He came to Paris when he was 16 years of age with five francs in his pocket. The German government so feared him that they put a price of $100,000 on his head, dead or alive.

Italian Senator Marconi discovered the difference between day and night transmission of wireless messages while on the American liner Philadelphia. He was on the Italian ship Principessa Mafalda, Genoa to Buenos Ayres, when he tried his new long-distance transmission records. He is now making further experiments on his own small steamship the Elettra, a moving laboratory. He declares "wireless is in its infancy."

Dear Sirs,—I had a Bleeding Tumor on my face for a long time and tried a number of remedies without any good results. I was advised to try MINARD'S LINIMENT, and after using several bottles it healed all up and disappeared altogether.
