

INTER COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL— COLLEGIANS DEFEAT B.C.C.

It was regrettable that weather conditions were not more favorable on Saturday afternoon for the inter collegiate football game between the Felidians and Collegians. It was generally thought by the fans that the contest would prove to be the best and most closely contested game for the season, this being judged from the manner in which they showed up in their previous appearances. The condition of the playing field was in a great measure responsible for this. The rain which fell before and during the game made the ground soft and the ball greasy and things unpleasant for spectators and players alike. The outcome of the game resulted in a win for the Collegians by 3 goals to nil. Both teams were handicapped under the conditions, but if anything, the M.C. victory was largely due to the fact that they had a much heavier team and they were better able to stand the heavy going over their lighter opponents. The whole Felidian team played well throughout, particularly Rendell, in the back division. On several occasions, it seemed as if they would score, but the ball was always cleared.

First Half.

The teams faced off with the Felidians defending the western goal. From the outset it was seen that playing would be very difficult, due to the greasy condition of the field. A light wind was blowing from the eastward, giving the M.C. players a slight advantage. For this reason much of the play was confined to the western goal and the Felidians were kept on the alert defending their goal. The Felidians, however, were not altogether on the defensive. And several good attempts were made by the forwards in working the leather down field. After about fifteen minutes of play the first score was recorded, when Butt, of the Collegians, placed the ball into the net after a good shot. Success followed them a few minutes later when Barbour availed of a good opening and landed No. 2. The Felidians, quite undaunted, worked hard during the remainder of the half to reduce their opponents lead. On several occasions they managed to get the ball near the M.C. goal, but good chances to score were lost due to the muddy condition of the field. When half time signal was given, the score stood Collegians 2 goals; Felidians, 0.

Second Half.

With two goals against them the Felidians went out for the second period with renewed vigor and determination to reduce the lead against them. They made several inroads in the Collegians' stronghold, but found them ready to stave off all attacks. Play was general, all the players working hard and the spectators were kept interested. After about twenty minutes of play the Collegians again scored, when Barbour was in the right place to receive a pass from Butt, and sent in a shot with Smith out of his goal. The Felidians did not appear to be much affected by the advantage held by their opponents, and continued to play hard. Several corners followed but luck was always against them. From this on to the end the game was a see-saw nature, with the opposing backs showing up to advantage. The game ended in a victory for the Collegians by 3 goals to nil. The Collegians' win on Saturday gives them a splendid chance for the championship.

To-Day's Game.

The Felidians will try conclusions with St. Bon's at St. George's Field this afternoon. Should the Felidians win or draw the Collegians will be champions; while, on the other hand, if St. Bon's should win to-day's game and defeat the Collegians on Wednesday, they will be champions. Great interest is centered in the outcome.

SOCCER TOUR.

Representative English Team Will Travel Across Canada Next Season.

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—The Evening Telegram says to-day:—It should be decided definitely that the English representative team to tour Canada next season will travel from coast to coast instead of ending the trip west at Winnipeg. The English Football Association has advised Dominion headquarters that only a strong team will be sent.

Wembley Exhibition Has Big Deficit

LONDON, Oct. 28.—While the guarantors of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley are expected to have to fund 75 per cent of their guarantee, that is 35 shillings for every one pound guaranteed, no liability will attach to Canada in the matter of any deficit in connection with the big show. Canada simply provided her own part of the exhibition and paid for it practically out of hand; at least, she has involved herself in no further liability than that connected with the Canadian pavilion at Wembley.

The guarantors are those who originally made the exhibition possible by guaranteeing various sums, chief among them being the British Government, which guaranteed a total of £1,100,000. The Duke of Devonshire, former Governor General of Canada, and others guaranteed smaller amounts than the government but still amounts of considerable magnitude. Manchester and other large centres contributed large sums towards the cost of the exhibition. Manchester's guarantee totalling £100,000.

While the liability resulting from the exhibition at Wembley is obviously heavy, the financial situation might easily have been worse than it is. The loss the first year of the exhibition was £1,800,000 but the loss this year will be considerably less than this. Many firms who offered guarantees probably have already written off a considerable portion for these. As to how much will be realized after the show closes will depend upon what the buildings at Wembley bring at "break-up" prices.

The cost of the initial expense on her own building was around $800,000. The erection of the building alone. To this must be added the salaries and general upkeep in connection with Canada's exhibits. The first year these totalled $24,000.

Five Below Zero

IN CALGARY CITY WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Unprecedented Weather is Reported in Central Canada.

A despatch from Calgary, received over the Post's leased wire, says that on Wednesday the mercury slipped down to five below zero, the coldest October reading in half a century. There was not a breath of air, and the weather was reminiscent of mid-winter, with the exception the streets of the city were free of snow.

A Winnipeg correspondent of the Post, writes under date of October 23: Winter made his formal appearance on the streets of Winnipeg with a genuine snowstorm Wednesday night. The fall was general through the province and West.

While the wind is from the south-east and some of the snow is melting there is a prophetic tang in the air of colder weather to come. Probs. says that the southeast winds will turn to the north, with more snow in Manitoba.

In Saskatchewan and Alberta strong northwesterly winds, with cloudy skies and light snowfalls, will prevail. In the Lake Superior district, with south and southeast winds, colder weather also is predicted.

Newfoundland Craft Battles Way to Sydney

AT TIMES SHIP AMONG ENGULFED IN TROUGH OF MOUNTAINOUS WAVES.

"During my twenty-five years on this coast I never encountered such weather as that experienced on my last trip from St. John's here," said the skipper of the schooner Albatross, which reached anchor somewhat battered after running through the recent heavy gales which swept the North Atlantic.

"The waves ran mountain high," declared the captain, "and there were times when our vessel dropped into the trough of the sea. I feared her bows would never lift. However, we came through the storm with little damage excepting some torn sails, but you have my word for it, we are glad to be in port."

"Driving rain and blinding snow drifted along with the wind, so that it was difficult for us to keep our bearings. Along the coast of Newfoundland many vessels were driven ashore, but there was no loss of life.

"On the way here we passed several craft laboring heavily through the mist and spume thrown up by the hurricane, but so far as I can learn they all weathered the storm and got to port without serious mishap."—Sydney Post, Oct. 29.

Storm Brings in Inez G. Rum

50 BARRELS CAME ASHORE AT DOMINION—NO SIGN OF TREASURE YET.

Several people in the town of Dominion will have a "wet Christmas" that is if inspectors are lenient and refrain from conducting a search for 50 barrels of rum, part of the cargo of the ill-fated rum runner Inez G. which foundered off Liagan Head some weeks ago and took six men to a watery grave, says the Glace Bay Gazette of Saturday.

Yesterday's gale from the north sent the waves rolling shoreward mountain high and the Inez G. lying on the ledge about three-quarters of a mile off shore began to break up. Parts of wreckage piled up along the beach at Liagan, but floating sections of the unfortunate craft did not interest the thousands of more people collected along the beach.

Some fifty kegs of rum came ashore and these were salvaged in quick time by many of the more daring persons in the crowd. The rum vanished in quick time, and is now doubtless stored in some safe and out of the way place, for future use.

The deck of the Inez G. came ashore practically intact. The fact that it was reported that Captain Vatcher, who went down with his boat, had $7,000 on board in a chest added frenzied interest to the search of the wreckage along the shore. Whether or not the story is a myth, no trace of the captain's treasure chest has been found.—Sydney Herald, Oct. 28.

Thrilling Rescue at Sea

OF 28 MEN AND A CAT FROM SINKING STEAMER.

Crew With Life Belts Leaped Into Sea And Were Fished Out.

HOBOKEN, N.J., Oct. 28.—The United States liner President Harding poked her wave-scarred nose through the Narrows yesterday, four days late, but hero of a thrilling sea rescue.

The ship bore safely to port 28 men and a cat, survivors of the foundered Italian freighter Ignazio Florio, who were saved from the fury of the sea by the captain and crew of the Harding.

As the steamer came through the Narrows and up the harbor the horns and whistles of the craft of all sorts and all nations gave her a rousing welcome.

Captain Lauro, of the Florio, gathered his crew of twenty-seven on the deck of the Harding, and they gazed hard at dry land. The sea had the Florio, but it had only one man of her crew, the second officer, who was washed off the bridge at the height of the storm, and a sea-going dog named Rex.

"Captain Grening, of the Harding; that captain is a very great humanitarian," said Lauro. "He is a real hero; I like him."

Lauro had cause for liking Grening. Exactly one week ago, when the Florio was disabled and rolled heavily in the trough of the giant seas one thousand and six hundred miles off Ambrose Light, the Florio's wireless operator, D. Ambrosi, listened through his head phones and turned to the captain: "He says commander will stay by you till finish. Do not worry."

"But all the Harding could do was to stand by. The St. Louis made an approach to the Florio impossible, and when the Harding let go an empty boat it was smashed to splinters against the Italian's side. All night the Harding moved in a drunken circle, playing her searchlights on the hulk. She poured oil to the windward of the Florio and one of the crew said he might as well have spat in the sea.

The barometer rose, the wind fell and there was a lull in the storm. The Harding manned one big lifeboat and made the Florio, where the crew, with lifebelts on, leaped into the sea, and were fished out to safety.

"It was a miracle," the captain of the Florio said.
