BRITISH GRAIN TRADE. London, April 26.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the grain situation, today says: "The backward state of the spring wheat showing is even more marked if rance than in England. The shillin advance in English wheat since th holidays is entirely due to foreign complications. The farmers have not co-operated in the slightest, and continue to flood the wheat market. They have, however, only yielded to force majeur. They no longer possess th capital to hold grain, and the way they are flooding the market is an emphatic negative of the idea that the cereal farmer is prospering. Foreign wheat is held at 2 shillings advance, in consequence of the war, which, however not wholly in favor of the holders as the Greek farmers are selling freel ready money thereby obtained is de voted to help their countrymen in arms. These sales check the advance ing tendency of prices. Russian ship ments doubled last week, and exports from Roumania increased. English and American flour advanced 1s 6d.

Paris, Ont., April 27 .- The Synod of Hamilton and London met in the Presbyterian Church here last evenng, and will continue the session un-il Wednesday evening. Dr. Samuel yle, of the Central Avenue Church Hamilton, the retiring moderator, preached a powerful sermon from Exodus xxxii., 24, impressing upon his nearers the doctrine of man's responsibility for immorality and crime. The sermon was a thoughtful discourse on which, after the meeting, Dr. Lyle was warmly congratulated. Business was opened by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Sarnia, moving, the Rev. Dr. Hamilton, of Motherwell conding, the appointment of the Rev. E. Cockburn, M.A., of Paris, as mode rator. The nomination was received with hearty applause.

A vote of thanks to the retiring moderator was passed, and Dr. Thompson Dr. Cochrane, clerk of the synod, reorted seven translations, seventeen orlinations and inductions, eight demis-sions, nine licenses granted, and two leaths, viz., Rev. John Campbell, of usual committees were appointed, and the synod adjourned.

DECREASED BIRTH RATE. The birth rate is decreasing not only n European countries, but in America also, as statistics show, says the New York Medical Times. "In 1880 the birth rate per 1,000 in the United States was 30.95, while in 1890 it was only 26.68, a decrease of 4.27 per 1,000 of population in ten years. The decrease was greatest in Massachusetts of the present revision that makes most for free trade.

Sir Richard Cartwright, after quotients of the present revision that makes most for free trade. as statistics show, says the New Medical Times. "In 1880 the ease was greatest in Massachusetts, 11.67; next in Virginia, 7.76, and even in New York it was 1.76." The Times adds: "It is a question if this decrease in the birth rate is an evil after all. Horticulturists do not think that a tree loaded with fruit gives as fine results as when the culture and the strength of the tree is centered in a smaller amount. In the latter the fruit is larger, richer in flavor, and more valuable than in the former."

Berates the British Newspapers for Favoring the Liberal Policy.

Ottawa, April 27.-In Parliament,

yesterday, routine business was over. quickly disposed of, for everyone wished to hear Sir Richard Cartwright. He is undoubtedly the best master of rugged English in the House. And he evidetly was prepared to say some things to the ex-Minister of Finance. At the outset he mildly affirmed that he did not know what are the domestic arrangements of the gentlemen opposite, but would remind the continued to recognize and deal with Liberal Ministers. Nothing Opposition leader of the words from so serious happened. "Julius Caesar": "Yon Cassius is a lean and hungry man; trust him not Caesar; he is dangerous." The Liberals applauded and Cassius looked annoyed. legal and unconstitutional character The annoyance deepened, and his face flushed darkly when Sir Richard put into the mouth of Sir Charles the words, "I do not know the man that and statistics under his desk and fight I would fear so much as that spare as he has been known to fight in the Cassius." The plotting of Mr. Foster against Sir Mackenzie Bowell justified these sharp words. Sir Richard now left personalities aside and at once proceeded to discuss the situation pic-tured by the ex-Finance Minister. "If the sight of Satan reproving sin caused the wise to reflect, then the spec-tacle of Mr. Foster lecturing the House on consistency and loyalty was enough to make, as Carlyle said, not only an-

In the revision, if it were calmly studied, it would be seen that a greater advance had been made than might have been expected. The thouse laughed heartily, and tariff was not an ideal for each the constitution leader continued with tariff was not an ideal one, not the sort the Opposition leader continued with that he would seek to present if a free that offer he believed there were mistakes that required rectification. The Liberals laughed at this passing shot at the tariff errors of 1894, and Sir Richard went on to tell how the new Government had found the ship of state waterlogged and dismasted, drifting on the rocks of civil discord. The mutineers had been driven overboard or under the hatches, where the Government meant to keep them, and the ship's head had been turned in the right direction toward the open sea of trade freedom.

Further on in his speech Sir Rich rd declared what the object is in the "I believe the passage of this tariff has rung the death-knell of protection and rung in the chance of federating the empire on a sound and secure basis." And further, the hope of the Government is not only that the new tariff will prove the first step towards closer trade relations within the transcendent position that England has always held in regard to her treatiles. Where had they placed England by this their act of supreme, transcendent position that England has always held in regard to her treatiles. In this fashion they may be taught the foolishness of tariff warfare, and be brought, if not to unite in close trade relations, at least into frendly terms with the other Englishspeaking peoples. We've sold a great number of those Superb Art Reproductions by master painters. It wasn't altogether the price-5 cents each-that did it. People were taken with them and would have paid more. They are 81/2x16, and are a handsome decoration for any home.

CYCLOMETERS

Every wheelman should have one. Keep a record of the miles you travel. First-class and accurate—only $1 complete. Also BI-CYCLE WATCHES, complete with handle bar attachments, enable riders to tell how fast they are traveling-only $1 25. Out-of-town customers can have them sent by mail without extra cost. Order early.
