

tzman Piano is used and preferred by artists.

rnwall Organ for the next ten days. Old in exchange.

arerooms, 229 Dundas St., London

10c. (HAND MADE)

U. W., 50

on every cigar. These are union
KINS, Manufacturer, London.

ry Bad Cough.
ring from Lung Troubles.
Flesh through illness, attended with Consumption.

L. Emulsion.
REQUIRE.

WAKE SOAP.

"SURE MAM"
IT BATES THIMBLE

ESTHE RTES THE

OR.

ly by SONS
ONT. GENUINE

"SEAMY SIDE" OF LIFE

Drunk, Mother Dying, and Green Starving.

York, Dec. 21.—Neighbors
ask Carey, who lives at 30, Yand sent word to Agent Mulligan of the Society that Carey's wife and children were in a terrible condition.

Agent Mulligan went place and found Carey drunk four children in various eggheads and filth, and very ill with pneumonia. There was in the house to eat and no fire, where she is dying. The children were taken care of by the Society and Carey was committed for to the Jefferson Market Court.

Carey got an policy on her life recently, and has starved and beaten her children. The doctors say that she has no recovery.

On To A Good Thing

Still selling Pants made $3. The best price made the city for $10. For the next days we will sell Regular Over 25 per cent. off regular prices.

spie's Star Hall.

DUNDAS STREET.

when the clock will stop.
8-day clock will be wound up on Saturday, the time coming nearest to the time it was presented with a beautiful gift. Open to all purchasers. A large stock of dolls, novelties and useful Xmas gifts at low prices.

251 Dundas St.

off all our Trimmed Millinery.

TRAIGHT
HIGH COAL of Lehigh Valley Coal.)

to this coal in stock in prices. It is acknowledged best in the market, gives heat, lasts longer and very impurities. Just the coal weather. We have No. 1 for grate use.

ALY & SON

19 York Street.

SELF-WILLED.

CHAPTER XXII.

He expected to see the lovely face blanch, the eloquent, sorrowful eyes grow dull, but there were no signs of shame or grief; instead, she met his gaze unflinchingly.

"You know that, Lord Cecil,"

"Say, rather, I guessed it."

"Then you have an answer to my question," he said, curiously, "and this interview, which must be painful to both of us, may be a moment more," she said, in a low, almost calm voice. "You were present when I dismissed Gerald Moore; you heard that was said."

"False-hearted woman!" he burst forth, and his face was as white as paper.

"I am not a false-hearted woman," he said, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

"Is there no meaning in the word love, or is it only a hollow word, signifying nothing? Have you heart?"

"As then you have no pity, you cannot have love," she said, and she looked at him with all the intensity of a true and unselfish passion; you know that, if need were, I could have died for you. All this you say, and yet you had me to suppose them, "you can sit there and calmly accuse your guilt, without a tremor, without a blush, without a word of shame?"

WESTERN ONTARIO.

BRANT.

There was pretty nearly a physical encounter in the Brantford council on Monday evening in response to the reply of one of the members to his criticism that "it was silly to expect the chairman to bring in detail of every item saying no one but a nunsquall would do so."

Mr. Lloyd, of Brantford, has presented a list of Hon. Edward Blake to the Central School there, in memory of his father, the late John Harris. The bust is by Hamilton McArthur, the famous Canadian sculptor, and is considered a very fine work of art.

BRUCE.

The Bruce County Council passed a resolution regarding its appreciation of the honor recently conferred upon it as a body by the election of one of its most respected members, Dr. J. A. McArthur, reeve of Bruce township, to the dignity and responsibility of a representative in the Local Legislature.

The resolution says: We congratulate him on his preference, and have no doubt that he will worthily occupy the important position of trust which has been committed to him.

ESSEX.

Bailiff Pascoe, of Windsor, has sent in his resignation to the Government.

Contracts for a new bridge at Port Stanley have been awarded by the Erie County Council. The Dominion Bridge Company, of Montreal, set the bridge contract for the stone work for $5,724.

The St. Thomas Board of Education has decided to appoint male principals in the several schools. Mr. M. Kerr has been appointed for Myrtle street school; initial salary, $500. The registered attendance in the city schools for November was 1,501 pupils; average attendance, 1,302.

Southwold is the only township in the county that has lowered its rate of assessment each year during the past three years. While that of Yarmouth is 7 mills, Southwold continues to have a surplus.

HURON.

Mr. E. Holmes, formerly editor and publisher of the Clinton New Era, is lying dangerously ill at St. Catharines, from an attack of la grippe.

The Wingham Times says: "It is reported that Dr. J. A. Meldrum has disposed of his practice in town and intends removing to Watford, Ont., in the course of a few weeks, where he has purchased an interest in a medical practice."

His most friends here will be sorry to see him go. Dr. Kierman has decided to sever his connection with the Congregational Church of Howick, of which he has been pastor for the past year. His term expires about the middle of January.—(Wingham Times).

OXFORD.

Ingersoll had an early closing bazaar, but the small number of shopkeepers in the various drygoods dealers are now all who are out. The Chronicle says: "The bazaar is a hummer, and a direct result of those who come under its arbitrary rule."

Norman Dorland, of Tillsonburg, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorland, killed in the Battle Creek disaster, who was injured in the face by the premature explosion of a cartridge on Thanksgiving Day, is getting well.

This year about 200 persons attended to the wants of the poor people who were seeking aid, having everything in such a shape that no waiting was necessitated and everything passed off smoothly. The provisions supplied were of the very best, the amount given to each applicant being: One-half pound rice, one pound raisins, one-half pound tea, one pound sugar, two pounds oatmeal, one pound bread, biscuits and beef, according to the size of the family in need.

IRISH BENEVOLENT.

The Irish Benevolent Society has again followed its previous course of aiding the poor of the city. At 2:30 yesterday afternoon the door was opened, and as great a rush occurred as at St. George's Society in the morning.

This year about 200 persons attended to the wants of the poor people who were seeking aid, having everything in such a shape that no waiting was necessitated and everything passed off smoothly. The provisions supplied were of the very best, the amount given to each applicant being: One-half pound rice, one pound raisins, one-half pound tea, one pound sugar, two pounds oatmeal, one pound bread, biscuits and beef, according to the size of the family in need.

CHILDREN CRY FOR PITCHER'S CASTORIA.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

EX-MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT

REUBEN E. TRUAX

Hon. Reuben E. Truax, one of Canada's ablest thinkers and statesmen, a man so highly esteemed by the people of his district that he was honored with a seat in Parliament, kindly furnishes us for publication the following statement, which will be most welcome to the public, inasmuch as it is one in which all will place implicit confidence. Mr. Truax says:

"I have been for about ten years very much troubled with Indigestion and Dyspepsia, have tried a great many different kinds of patent medicines, and have been treated by a number of physicians and found no benefit from them. I was recommended to try the Great South American Nerve Tonic. I obtained a bottle, and I must say I found very great relief, and have since taken two more bottles, and now feel that I am entirely free from Indigestion, and would strongly recommend all my fellow-sufferers from the disease to give South American Nerve an immediate trial. It will cure you."

REUBEN E. TRUAX.

"Walkerton, Ont."

It has lately been discovered that certain Nerve Centres, located near the base of the brain, control and supply the stomach with the necessary nerve force to properly digest the food. When these Nerve Centres are in any way deranged the supply of nerve force is at once diminished, and as a result the food taken into the stomach is only partially digested, and Chronic Indigestion and Dyspepsia soon make their appearance.

South American Nerve is so prepared that it acts directly on the nerves. It will absolutely cure every case of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and is an absolute specific for all nervous diseases and ailments. It usually gives relief in one day.

Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle-aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nerve is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.

Dr. W. Washburn, of New Richmond, Indiana, writes: "I have used South American Nerve in my family and prescribed it in my practice. It is a most excellent remedy."

CLAME BACK

NEURALGIA, PLEURISY, SCIATICA CURED EVERY TIME

WHEN THE "D. & L." MENTHOL PLASTER IS USED.

THE LOUVRE!

We must make room for our spring stock, and have marked down our stock of Millinery to cost.

Accordeon Pleated Veils at 25c. See our 20c Veilings. Our $2 50 Hats are bargains.

THE LOUVRE,

Corner Richmond and King Streets.

During the Great Epidemic of 1891

The following preparations were used with marked success as a protection from "La Grippe," and as a means of recovery from it.

Staminal

A FOOD AND TONIC COMBINED

JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF.

The best form of concentrated nourishment.

PREPARED BY THE JOHNSTON FLUID BEEF COMPANY

The MARVEL Hot Air FURNACE

IS THE BEST.

J. BROCKEST, - South London

PHONE 92.

Seasonable Goods Arriving Daily!

VERY FINE