Nervous

Troubles are caused by impure and impoverished blood because the nerves, being fed by the blood, are not properly nourished. The true way to cure nervousness is to purify the blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and thas built me up, increased my appetite and accomplished what I desired. My oldest daughter was nervous and not very gugged, but her health is good since she began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." Johns L. Pingree, 172 Hayden Row, Hopkins began using Hood's Barsaparilla." They show that the Uitlanders, or foreigners, in the Transvaal, failing to get redress from President Kruger, intimated to Dr. Jameson that they were ripe for a revolt, if he would take the initiative. Jameson mustered 700 men, well armed, but with little food, and cut the telegraph wires behind him to prevent being re-called by the British Government. Meanwhile the Uitlanders mustered at Johannesburg, and formed a provisional government. The Boers hurriedly massed a force of 5,000, well armed, well mounted, excellently trained far-mer huntsmen, and the Uitlanders became so alarmed that their army rapidly melted away. They then telegraphed Jameson that they were in would have fully 30 out of 40 seats in the great danger from the Boers. Legislature. Indeed, were it not for the provisional government, who were supintroduction of the Patrons, the Government ported by the Germans and Americans, would have fully 35 seats. forces were first sighted in the Transvaal territory they were met by a messenger from Commander Marco, who requested them to withdraw. Dr. Jameson replied that he intended proceeding with his original plans, which were not hostile to the people of the Transvaal, adding: "We are here in reply to the invitation of the principal resi-dents of the Rand, to assist them in their demand for justice, and the ordinary rights of every citizen of a civilized state." Fighting between the Boers and the invaders commenced soon afterwards near Krugerdorp, where the Boers occupied a strong position. The British force was commanded by Sir John Willoughby, assisted by Major Goold Adams, of Matabele war fame. In addition to the strong position they occupied, the Boers OUTNUMBERED THE BRITISH by at least six to one. But, although the British were exhausted by their long night and day march without food, having expected to be met by the Uitlanders in force with all the supplies necessary, they only suffered a slight reverse, losing nine killed. The If you would serve God in earnest, begin Boers, however, also captured twelve prisoners.

After moving southward on Wednesday the British had to fight hard all night, so that when they reached Vlafontein, which is about six miles from Johannesburg, Thursday morning, they were utterly exhausted, their all affections of the throat and chest. This supply of cartridges was about gone, is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive and nearly all of them were on the verge of starvation. is to be tried by count-martial and may be SHOT OR HANGED, although, having saved President Kru-ger's life in his capacity of physician, he may escape with a less severe penalty, especially as the Boer loss was only, it is aid, three killed and five wounded. In any case "Dr. Jim," as Jameson is popularly known, was regarded as a martyr, and there was some show of getting together a force of Uitlanders in defiance of all control. But not many volunteers were got together, and when they were in something like marching order, it was too late to be of assistance to the misguided freebooters under Dr. Jameson, who succumbed to hunger, lack of ammunition and superior when almost within sight of Johannesburg.

The correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Company had a talk with Dr. Jameson and Sir Willoughby after the surrender on Thursday last. Dr. Jame-"We simply failed owing to the lack of expected support. Although our allies failed us, we might yet have escaped if the railroad had been destroyed, as the Boers, as well as ourselves, were without ammunition until an engine, pulling several truck loads of ammunition and supplies, arrived for the Boers. That settled it. We had neither ammunition nor food."

It was evident to the correspondent that Dr. Jameson was honest in thinking the Uitlanders were in the greatest danger from the Boers, and, as the correspondent says, he plunged in at the RISK OF HIS OWN LIFE and reputation in order to make an attempt to rescue them. Popular feeling in favor of Dr. Jameson is running very high. The Times, for instance, says: "The march will remain a glorious tradition for the Anglo-Saxon race." BITTER FEELING AGAINST GER-MANY.

The feeling here against Emperor William and Germany, owing to the action of the former in sending a dispatch of congratulation to President Kruger on his defeat of Dr. Jameson's freebooters, and in other ways apparently ignoring the suzerainty of the Queen over the Transvaal Republic, continues among all classes of people, and the war sentiment against Germany rises as time passes. It is understood that the arsenals and dockyards are being overhauled in case of an emergency. Emperor William is a member of several exclusive English clubs, including the Royal Yacht squadron, and in some of them the demand for his expulsion is already very loud. Letters have also been published in the newspapers demanding that he resign his colonelcy in the Snow on Reads. In an action recently tried before Judge Wilkinson, an important decision as affecting municipal councils was given. The plaintiff in the case owns and drives a stage beteen Kingston and Sydenham. In some parts of Loberough township, during the winter season, snow has been allowed to accumulate until the road is almost impassable. The plaintiff has repeatedly notified the council in regard to the matter, but no attention was paid to his complaints. In the spring of this year the snow, as usual, was allowed to accumulate at a part of the highway, and the stage driver notified the council to have it removed. The council, as usual, disregarded the notification, and the plaintiff was obliged to turn out himself and remove the snow and make the road passable. He brought his action to recover damages for time he lost, and the amount he paid. Judge Wilkinson has just decided that he can recover, and that the defendants are liable for the nonremoval, and he gave judgment for the
