"Fair Play" and the Navy,

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST :- Having read letter in the British Columbian Examiner. of March 29th, signed "Fair Play," respect-ing the removal of the Zealous, with the Admiral from this station, and notioing the very unfair statement made by him in that letter, I am sure you will let the following reply appear in your next. In answer to the first, the head-quarters of the ships have, from the earliest time that this part of the coast became a Colopy, been at Esquimalt, and a vast deal of expense has been gone to, in fitting up the storehouses in that harbor for a Naval Depot. Second, relative to the expenditure of the ships, the contracts for supplies, were opened more than a year ago for competi-tion, in the hope that colonists either on the Mainland or Island would be able to become the contractors and the several gentlemen on the Island, accepted them; although some colonists on the Mainland were asked to undertake them; but the Island contractors have been unable to eet all the supplies necessary, namely : Cattle, flour and vegeta-

OUTPOURING OF THE WEALTH OF ISRAEL IN GOTHAM -- MARRIAGE OF A WEALTHY JEWESS TO A HEBREW MERCHANT.

Yesterday will not soon be forgotten among those of our population who pro-fess the Mosa'c faith and enjoy the reputation of being the possessors of wealth, or at least, a comfortable competency. For weeks among this "upper circle" of the Israelites of New York the coming marriage of the daughter of one of the millionaires of their denomination was millionaires of their denomination was being talked about, and great expecta-tions were raised by many tongued Dame Rumor as to the splendor, the wealth and the liberality of ornamentation which were to be exhibited on this "the most

The lady was Miss Pauline Schloss, daughter of Mr. Moses Schloss, of the firm of Schloss Brothers, of this city; and the gentleman who took Miss Pauline unto himself as his wife, was Mr. Sig-mund H. Stonewell, of Cheyenne in the Territory of Wyoming. The wedding presents sent to the house of the bride's parents were very numerous and costly. It is not usual among the Israelites to give on such oc-casions jewels or precious stones richly set for personal ornament. The practice has been and is wisely kept up to give things useful for the household, only the material changes with the wealth of the giver and the position in society of the receiver. The presents to the bride yesterday were over two hundred, consisting of tes sets, dinner sets, ice cream sets and similar articles for the house, the aggregate value of which exceeds $10,000 one tes set alone, having been purchased at Tiffany & Co.'s, cost ever nine hundred dollars, The ceremony was performed at the Temple Emanuel, on Forty-third street and Fifth avenue. The Church was crowded almost to excess, between and two three thousand persons being in attend-ance. This was mainly because Mr. Moses Schloss, the fither of the bride, is one of the most prominent and popular members of the church.)

AN AFFECTING SCENE. - At the theatre in Douai, during the first performance of Offenbach's new operetto, a young actress, who appeared for the first time, was hissed. She turned deadly pale, carriages, and proceeded to Trenor's Lyric Hall on Sixth Avenue, near Fortydrew a poignard from her bosom and tried to stab herself. Fortunately the other actors succeeded in wresting the weapon from her hands. The performance was interrupted for half an hour, and when the curtain rose again, the manager appeared and said to the highly excited audience that the young actress would reappear, but he begged them not, to insult her; she was highly talented, and that a little encouragement given to her would at once elicit the full splendor of her, talents. The gallant Frenchmen burst into deafening applause when the young girl came forward again, and encored the first air which she sang in a tramplant roice. The ceremony was very plain, simple, yet duly solemn and impressive. Many of the old customs of the orthodox Jews of the old customs of the oringdox Jews were omitted, as the standing of the bride and groom under a canopy, the of-fering of a glass vial of wine to the bride, which she drinks and then throws on the floor, to be broken by stamping upon it, as a token that as the vial is eternally rent, so the union then formed shall, be eternal. All these ceremonies of the words of advice to him, and these are, not orthodox Church were omitted, and after a hymn, sung by the choir, a short prayer was said, followed by a solemn address to the bride and groom by the minister upon the religious and moral duties the engagement of marriage imposes. With the yow of eternal troth and faithfulness, the groom handed to his bride the ring, and while pronouncing a similar vow, the bride placed the ring on her finger. A prayer followed by the priest, who, at the con-clusion, blessed the newly-we'ded pair, placing his hands upon their heads, and a hymn by the choir closed the religions remonies The family and all guests specially in-vited to the dinner then entered their
