

graceful and symmetrical. These are the medium-sized, well-balanced, even proportioned birds, full of life and vigor—the males that, when mated will not eat themselves until they know that the hens have had plenty. Provided these birds are not too small, they are the ones to use for breeding purposes.

It will be noticed that these cockerels are usually the first to begin to crow, which indicates that they mature more quickly than their long-legged brethren, which means that females bred from cockerels of this build and disposition will mature more quickly and lay earlier than those bred from larger-sized phlegmatic parents.

From reports, the recent stock show at Guelph last month, was larger and better than ever before, particularly in the poultry department. There were exhibited over 4,000 pure-bred poultry, chiefly from Ontario. This shows an increase over last year; in fact, year by year shows increases in nearly all poultry shows. Probably the value of these birds in the aggregate would amount to $25,000, a conservative estimate placing the value of each bird on the average at about $5 or $6 each. Of course, there would be about 100 of these worth $50 each and others not worth five. The growth of fancy poultry breeding in Ontario prevails likewise in the other provinces of the Dominion and indicates, in a measure the value of the poultry industry to the Dominion.

There are Typewriters which sell for less than the Underwood, but the difference in cost does not compensate for the lack of all-round efficiency. They cost more in the end.
