

MEMBER'S COURSE.

LECTURE.

ON

'Books; and How to Use Them,'

BY

Rev. Hugh Johnston, B.D.,

(Of Metropolitan Methodist Church),

With Illustrative Readings by well-known Amateurs.

SHAFTESBURY HALL,

Tuesday Ev'g, April 1, '84

AT EIGHT O'CLOCK.

THE OLD GOSPEL.

VERYTHING which is best in the world is old. Sunshine is as old as the earth itself and the sun when the fire mist was rounded into an orb—the same to-day playing in our streets as when it played on the bowers of Paradise.

The air is old, pouring its refreshing currents into our lungs and renewing our lives to-day as in all time past.

The great arch of the heavens is old; it has not been taken down and built up again on modern brickwork since the creation.

The doctrines of the Gospel are old but full of motion, full of energy, as the river is full of movement—full of life-giving power, as the sunlight and the vital air. They are doctrines out of which the missionary work sprang

They are the doctrines of Paul, that first great missionary. He had strong convictions. He did not doubt. He knew whom he had believed, and was persuaded that He was able to keep him and to save the world. And who is the successor of Paul? He who holds the same faith with him, and teaches it with the same earnest fidelity.
