VIEW FROM MOUNT ROYAL.

BY EDWARD GALLAGHER. I have stood on proud Mount Royal, I have stood on proud Mount Royal,
When the fragrant breath of May
Rose like incense from the bowers
Through the golden glow of day;
Round his craggy sides meandered
Youth and age through sylvan glades,
Lovers roamed in quest of flowers.
Or communed in blissful shades.

Far below I saw in splendor Golden beams obliquely fall, On gilded domes and gleaming turrets Scattered wide o'er Montreal; Silent, like a splendid painting, Pencilled in the emerald green, Lay the city in her glory, By the river's amber sheen.

Oh! that wide, majestic river-Calm St. Lawrence' crystal zone— Like a band of heaven's azure, Stately shadows o'er it thrown; O'er it rolled the amber billows Of the evening's fiery glow, Till it faded in the distance, Like the joys that sink to woe.

Calmly on its breast reposing Many ships at anchor lay, Many sames at anchor lay, Sammer yachts with pennons streaming To and fro sailed o'er the bay; Zephyrs sported with the wavelets On St. Helen's pearly shore, And the tide in gentle murmur Sighed to part forever more.

Far beyond rose peaks resplendent, Crowned in heaven's sweetest smile, Mantled round in blue and purple— These the mountains of Belock, Here a look on Point St. Charles Woke sad mem'ries of the place, Where in woful Forty-seven Died the thousands of our race; -

Fleeing from the jaws of famine, Brave but fever-stricken men, Virtuous, fair, and youthful women Died like cattle in a pen! Where on earth, I cried in sorrow, Can we Irish exiles go. That we shall not see before us Monuments of Erin's woe!

Hark! the Vesper chime is pealing, Anthems swell the evening air, Mounting upward into heaven, On the lightning wings of prayer;
Far to westward gleaned the Rapids
Neath the sunset's golden blaze,
Like a distant city burning In the twilight's mellow haze.

Westward far and wide extended One vast plain of fertile lands, Speckled o'er with snow-white orchards, Lowing herds and tailing bands. Lake St. Louis, in her radiance, Blushes in the lovely West; Pillowed on her glowing bosom Sol himself descends to rest.

Cote des Neiges, in arbors sleeping, Decked the valley winding by, Sweetly o'er her pleasant villas Curling smoke rose to the sky; By her side stood Villa Maria, Long a Convent known to fame, While her steeples in the sunset Shone like lurid towers of flame.

Through the rosy light of even, Like a beacon far away, Shone the towers of St. Laurent, Neath the smile of parting day; Red and redder fall the shadows, Still the College halls I see, Like a proud embattled castle Basking in a common sea.

Rosy clouds are changed to olive, Stealing o'er each lovely hue, Soon the scenes whereon I lingered Darkling shadows veil from view. Softly fell the shades of even O'er the land in vernal bloom Starlike lamps from rural dwellings Gimmered through the mighty gloom.

HIGHER PRICE FOR BUTTER. All dairymen who use Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color, agree that it increases the value of butter several cents a pound. It is pure and harmless, convenient for instant use, has no taste or odor, and gives a clear, golden richness to the butter. It is the very best butter color obtainable, and is not expensive. In every State in the Union the demand for it is increasing.

THE EMERALD ISLE.

THE TORIES, IF RETURNED, PROMISE IT SELF-GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, June 3.-Lord Randolph Churchill addressing a meeting of Conservative tonight, said the Tory policy was to persiste at-ly expose the failure of the Liberal party to remedy its disastrous results, to maintain the unity of Great Britain and Ireland and to develop the national resources of the country. If it had not been for the famine and change of government in 1880, Ireland would now have been in a most promising condition. Mr. Gladstone's domestic policy placed our commerce and manufacturing in the hands of foreigners. He promised that the Tories, if returned to power, would introduce many necessary reforms, including a large scheme for the local government of Ireland, England and the metropolis. They would also reestablish an alliance with Turkey and face any responsibility for the security of India. He was confident that if the Tories were placed in power Russia would advance no further.

CHAMBERLAIN'S PROMISE. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade, in a speech at Birmingham this evening, said he wished the Liberals to have more faith in their remedial legislation. He attributed the pacific state of Ireland, not to coercion, but to the reform of the land laws and the removal of agrarian grievances. The task of the new Parliament would be to give the widest possible self-government to Ireland consistent with the integrity of the Empire, and to find a safe means between separation disastrous to Ireland and dangerous to England and excessive centralization which would impede legisla-tion. Mr. Chamberlain believed the Afghan difficulty would soon be finally settled. England's sole object in remaining in Egypt, he said, was to secure its independence, to secure stable government and relieve the peasants from excessive taxation. After England's sacrifices Egypt could not tolerate England's departure, which would be the signal for some other power to assume a prepondering influence there.

THE CRIMES ACT. A majority of the Cab net, led by Earl Spencer, have determined to maintain the provisions of the Irish Crimes Act, enabling a change of venue of trial, giving power to try special cases with special jurors, to try summarily for intimidation before two re-ident magistrates and to conduct preliminary secret examinations. A compromise has been arranged with the minority on the proposa to limit the operation of the act to one year

THE ORANGEMEN. Duntin, June 3.—Archbishop Croke re-turned from Rome this evening. Replying to an address of welcome at Kingstown, he said he wished to see the Orangemen broken down and the green flag floating over a presperous peorle.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

Curcago, May 31.-Reports covering every wheat producing county in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota and Pacific coast indicate that the gloomiest views advanced concerning the winter wheat outlook for 1885 must be accepted as most accurate. The absolute uniformity of the returns indicates that the outlook for winter sown wheat this year is the worst in ten years. Under the most favoring conditions the total winter and apring wheat yield will fall considerably under the short crop of 1881, when the total product was 380,000,000 bushels.
