

REFERENCES

More extensive information about Global Affairs Canada's development and humanitarian assistance projects can be accessed through Global Affairs Canada's online Project Browser: <http://w05.international.gc.ca/projectbrowser-banqueprojets/?lang=eng>. The Project Browser is part of the Government of Canada's ongoing commitments to transparency and accountability of Canada's international assistance programs as outlined in Budget 2018 and the International Aid Transparency Initiative.

Additional information about how Canada's IDRC is making a difference can be found on its website: <https://www.idrc.ca/en/what-we-do/regions-and-countries>. Projects that IDRC has supported over the past decade can also be explored on its project browser: <https://www.idrc.ca/en/search>.

For more information on Canada's refugee programs, please visit: www.cic.gc.ca/english/refugees/index.asp.

The World Bank Group provides information on development results through its bi-annual Corporate Scorecards (<https://scorecard.worldbank.org>) and through the annual report of its Independent Evaluation Group (<http://ieg.worldbankgroup.org/evaluations/rap2017>). A project browser providing specific information on World Bank projects is also available at this address: <http://projects.worldbank.org>.

The Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank provides a detailed list of its approved infrastructure projects on its website: <https://www.aiib.org/en/projects/proposed/index.html>. The information includes project summaries as well as detailed project documents. Note that most of the projects on the list were approved before Canada became a full member of the bank.