ENVOY, AGE 13, IS AT HOME IN THREE TONGUES

Most Interesting Personality Among the Many at Niagara Falls is the Young Son of Argentina's Representative

NAON HAS MADE FRIENDS WITH ALL

Bright South American Boy Has Flying Start Over the Average Canadian Youth—Is Already Well Educated

By Staff Reporter. NIAGARA FALLS, May 23.—Among all the personalities which the peace conference has drawn together none is more interesting than that of Donato Naon, the 13-year-old son of the Argentine representative. In nearly every particular he is just what a Canadian boy would expect him not to be. In fact, if it were not for his color and certain other racial characteristics, he would be taken for a bright, healthy, romping young Canadian. Before he was in the hotel 24 hours young Naon was known to everybody. Every person who met the majority of whom were newspapermen coming from all parts of the western hemisphere, constituted themselves as particular friends and strove to give him happy memories of hospitality to take back with him. In person he is a slender, dark-eyed chap, brimming with life and spirits. From morning until night he is on the move and when companionship fails may be seen seated alone in the sun-shine on the balcony playing solitaire. This game he picked up in a half hour demonstration since his arrival and already has it down to a nicety. With the utmost composure he will sit and play with a crowd of strangers gathered about. At all hours of the day and until late in the evening his boyish laugh may be heard echoing about the corridors of the hotel where the weighty matters of the conference above have produced a hush. He is a great hand at romping with the younger and elderly journalists who have left youngsters of their own at home and have come down to Niagara to watch the proceedings of the conference. Naon, Jr., when twenty-one years of age will be one of the best educated young men in America. This is partly due to his own ambition and partly to that of his parents. At the present time he has a grasp of languages that would give the average Canadian youth a well-deserved pang of envy. In English he speaks with a French inflection, but little chap is equally at home in Spanish. "Do you find no trouble in expressing the same thought in different languages without hesitation?" he was asked. "Not a bit," he responded. "You see, from the very first I had nurses who spoke in French, and I learned English before I did Spanish. "What are you going to make of yourself?" he was asked. "O, I think I will be a lawyer," he said, and immediately inquired what were the best American universities to train one for that profession. The purpose of his parents is to give him an "international" education. He will take the law course at Yale and the medical course at Harvard in Cambridge. A long tour is planned to polish off his whole training. This bright Argentine boy is having a flying start over the general Canadian youth. All that money and careful planning can do to make him a remarkable diplomat will be done and thus far he has shown wonderful aptitude for such a life. The first thing that one notes about him is that he is at home everywhere and the broad of his features which would at once abash the ordinary boy of age merely brings out the brighter features of his nature. This contrast was observed in his companionship with the son of a local man. Young Canada was content to stand by and grin when the young Argentine took upon himself the whole responsibility of entertaining. There is a possibility that some of the envoys here from the United States before going back and young Naon is looking forward to seeing boy scouts on the march and other organizations which his own country has not.

200 Happy Families Live Here Now Over 200 More Will be Living Here by the End of Summer

From the Toronto World, May 19th and West Toronto on a half. Two hundred families are at present living in Silverthorn, and judging by building operations, it is likely that this number will be increased to 400 by the end of the summer. An entertainment by the pupils of Hughes' School, Caledonia avenue, will take place this afternoon, when a program of solos, drills, sketches, will be given. Silverthorn Grove is the most wonderful community in Toronto. It is a centre of the greatest building activity. It has grown up in the past year. Since April, 1913, one hundred and seventy-seven buildings have been erected in the Grove. Below is an affidavit sworn before a notary public, showing the number of homes and stores erected in the past thirteen months. Where else in Toronto can you find such a record? Nearly every second lot has a house built on it, or under construction—cellars are being excavated—houses are rising. The air is filled with the sounds of saws and hammers—everybody is building—everybody is enthusiastic. Men who have been paying rent all their lives—who never owned a foot of land before—are now living in homes of their own in the Grove. This is a real live, humming community, of the best type of English-speaking citizens.

This is the Class of Energetic Home Builders We Want in the Grove

Mr. Sheplek and Mr. Stittie have just built homes on Commodore Avenue, Silverthorn Grove. Mr. Sheplek's house is already completed, and Mr. Stittie's house is now being finished. The material in each of these houses cost $150. The men built them themselves, without any assistance, except from neighbors. Mr. M. E. Cochrane purchased a lot from us on Silverthorn Avenue about seven weeks ago. About three weeks ago he started to build a store, and to-day, although the store is not yet completed, he has an excellent grocery and butcher business established at 392 Silverthorn Avenue. This is just one instance of how a man can establish a business and make it pay its own way inside of three weeks. Thomas Hatton has already completed one house, and is now starting another one. Mr. Hatton says he can complete a house in from one to three weeks in his spare time. The total cost of the material for a home of this kind is only about $150. Another man purchased a lot from us on Silverthorn Avenue on the 18th of March last. He now has a hardware store nearly completed, and is doing a thriving business in builders' materials and general hardware. The cost of the building was only about $120. The owner will add to this building until he has a substantial home in connection with his store. These are a few instances of the thrift and industry which is shown particularly in Silverthorn Grove.

CARRANZA MAY SEND EMISSARY

Another Development in the Mexican Situation Eagerly Awaited

NOT TO BE MEDIATOR Agent Would Give Views of Constitutionalists on Situation

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Whether Carranza, constitutionalist chief, would determine to send a representative to the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, was a development the Mexican situation eagerly awaited here today. The constitutionalist agents in Washington were still looking for word from their chief on this proposal to have an emissary at Niagara, and it was expected that after another conference in a week Carranza late today, by some positive light would be shed on the situation. Jose Vasconcelos, one of Carranza's confidential representatives, who has been mentioned in connection with the proposed mission, was to arrive here today. Plans for sending a constitutionalist representative to Niagara Falls had not been officially outlined to him before his arrival. It was reiterated that if Carranza finally determined to send a man to the mediation conference, the proposal would be restricted to narrating to the mediators the constitutionalists' aims. He would not go as a delegate or to seek participation in the mediation preliminaries. There probably would be a specific understanding that the constitutionalists were not committed to any proposal of the South American envoys for settlement of the Mexican problem. News that John R. Silliman, U. S. vice-consul, who had been held by federalists, had arrived safely in Mexico City, relieved a menacing circumstance. Sallito Captured. While diplomatic developments overshadowed other features in the Mexican equation today, yet keen interest was maintained in the constitutionalists' swiftly moving military campaign. Outlying columns of Carranza's army continued their general movement toward the gateway to Huasteca capital, and Villa's troops took possession of Sallito, which was abandoned by the federalists without resistance. Earlier in the week it had been believed that Carranza's temporary capital soon is to be established in Sallito, where he would act as governor of Coahuila State under Madero. DOCTOR SAVED MAN'S LIFE. The prompt attention of Dr. Norman Allen last night saved the life of Chas. Thomson, of 53 Euclid avenue, an employe of the Lake Shore Ice Company. Thomson had the arteries of his right arm pierced by an ice hook which a severe hemorrhage resulted. He was rushed to St. Michael's hospital where his condition is reported as being favorable.

ROOSEVELT WILL GET POLICE PROTECTION

But Arrangements Are Only Those Customary With Ex-Presidents.

Special to The Sunday World.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Police protection for Theodore Roosevelt next Tuesday, on the occasion of the arrival of the former president of the city, is the practice of the department to take no chances of former chief executives being annoyed during their stay in Washington, and similar details are always made.

LANARK MAN DROWNED.

KENORA, Ont., May 23.—A drowning fatality took place late yesterday afternoon when John Gardiner, while working in his boat near his camp on Coney Island, suddenly lost his balance and fell into the water. Gardiner was 76 and a native of Lanark, Ont.

LINER PICKED UP SHIPWRECKED MEN

Transferred From Fishing Boat Off Newfoundland Coast

CAUGHT IN ICE FLOE

Took to Boats When the Brig Marie Emilie Sank

MONTREAL, May 23.—Five shipwrecked seamen arrived in Montreal today on the Allan liner Corinthian. They were victims of the terrible ice conditions which have prevailed since early spring in the vicinity of Newfoundland. Bound from Brest with a cargo of salt and provisions for the fishing communities on the St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands, their three-masted brig, Marie Emilie, was caught and held captive in the ice for three days and nights. A frail craft, she was unable to stand the grinding of the ice, and the captain and his eight men took to their boats, and thru a small line of open water got clear of her just in time to see her mast sink below the surface. The outlook was not pleasant, but the ice became looser as they drifted, and four hours after they left, the Marie Emilie they were picked up by a fishing schooner. The schooner carried the captain and four members of the crew until the Corinthian took them on board, 130 miles southeast of Cape Race. The other members of the crew were also rescued by a fishing schooner. The cargo of the Marie Emilie was valued at 450,000 francs and was fully insured.

ANOTHER LONG SAULT BATTLE WAS FOUGHT

Montreal Man Adds Another Page to Early Canadian History

MONTREAL, May 23.—Another page to Canada's early history has been added by the discovery of a battle between French Canadians and Indians similar to that of Dollard Des Ormeaux at Long Sault, but twenty years afterwards. It appears, according to a statement made by Mr. Masson to the Montreal Antiquarian Society last night, that a band of a hundred Iroquois were fired upon as they passed Bout De L'Isle to help Philippe in his attack at Quebec. Four of the Indians were shot and the remainder turned upon the attacking band of twenty-five habitants recruited from the district about Pointe-Aux-Trembles and led by a certain Sieur Colombain. Sixteen of the Frenchmen were killed, but the Indians were compelled to abandon their intended voyage to Quebec.

THE WHITE GLOVES WON'T LAST LONG

Look Fine on Policemen's Splendid Hands, But They Are Just Temporary

When the duke comes they all wear white gloves. The Ontario Motor League went beyond themselves yesterday and started a general rejoicing because the traffic policemen were wearing white gloves. The league has for a considerable time past been urging the police commissioners to supply crossing policemen with these hand coverings, as they say signals can be seen much more easily when made with a gloved hand. The white gloves, however, are merely in honor of the duke, and unless some means are taken to continue the good work they will be discarded as soon as they get dirty.

ARRESTED FOR LIFTING RAINCOAT.

It may not rain on Victoria Day, but Andrew Buchanan of 262 Bellini street, a chauffeur, was going to be prepared for it in any event. Detective Leavitt saw him taking a raincoat from the Robert Simpson Company store on Saturday, and the result is that he may now have to spend the holiday in custody.
