PORTLAND IS LOSING STAND AS COMPETITOR

Steamer Man at Montreal Sees Bright Future for Saint John

BY A. M. BELDING. MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—That Portland has become less formidable as a competitor of Saint John, and that our port is assured of a brighter future if certain disabilities are removed, was the emphatic assertion of the representative here of several steamship lines in the Atlantic.

Funerals

Rolphe Y. Ganong. Service in connection with the funeral of Rolphe Y. Ganong was conducted last evening at his late residence, 21 Stanley street, by Rev. Dr. R. S. Poole. The body was taken to Havelock on the noon train for interment on Sunday in the family lot. Many lovely flowers were presented.

Another Need Urgent

"Another urgent need is that of reciprocal switching privileges such as we have at Montreal. I want to be very emphatic on that point. Take cattle, for example. If they are shipped by the C. N. R., there is too much bumping about before they get down to the ship's side at West Saint John. It should be possible to have berths allotted to steamship lines, but you cannot get ready to do that until you examine the roofs of some of your warehouses for leaks. Claims for damages are not feared by those who use them.

Traffic Expert Urged

"You ought to have a traffic expert in Saint John, a transportation man who knows his business. Your people have a great opportunity, but they must act. The Canadian National Railway should have increased facilities at your port. Trade is coming your way. Get ready to meet it or it may go elsewhere. And be sure to get those reciprocal switching privileges such as we have at Montreal.

Local News

START WORK AT ONCE. The work of frost proofing the new pier shed for the use of the C. N. R. as a potato warehouse would be begun at once, Commissioner Bullock said this morning. Arrangements have been made with two of the tenants to vacate at once and work will be begun on the south end of the shed, permission having been granted by the C. P. R. for the city to go in on the premises under rental to them.

MUST BEHAVE.

Seven juveniles were before Magistrate Henderson this morning for being members of a disorderly crowd and breaking windows in the property occupied by Mrs. John Willett, 46 Waterloo street. Mrs. Willett, H. Campbell, and Andrew Chamberlain gave evidence. The detectives told of warning the lads before. They were finally allowed to go with a severe warning that they behave themselves in future.

Suggestion is Approved at Session of Health Centre Governors

Will Give First Hand Information—Hon. H. I. Taylor Elected to Board.

The suggestion that at future meetings of the Board of Governors of the Saint John Health Centre the nurses of the various organizations which are housed in the Health Centre should attend and give first hand information concerning their work was brought forward at a meeting of the board last night by Dr. William Warwick and was heartily approved. G. Fred Fisher presided in the absence of Dr. G. A. B. Addy. The administrative committee report showed that during the month 98 clinics were held with 1,266 attending and their work made 694 home calls, the number of home calls being smaller because some of the nurses were on vacation.

ON VALUE OF BIRDS.

Principal W. H. Swan, B. A., St. Andrews, read a carefully prepared paper on history. This paper contained valuable hints on how to deal with this subject. Then J. S. Lord, M. L. A., elected, for teacher in this county, and Saint John, gave the members of the institute an instructive talk on birds. Mr. Lord spoke of the economic value of birds to the farmer and stated how necessary it was that they be cared for and protected. He said there were more than 200 varieties of birds in this province. Mr. Lord has given considerable time and attention to this subject and has the largest collection and variety of birds' eggs in the province.

Who Has Not a Chesterfield?

Not so long ago one could count the homes reeling in the luxurious looks and ease of a Chesterfield suite. Today it is far easier to count the homes that try to do without. They are mighty few.

In hundreds of years no furniture development compares with the Chesterfield as we know it. An absolute necessity if home is to be really what it should mean. The largest choice in the East is here—you see enough side by side to make a fair decision. All doubly guaranteed in every particular.

And a year to pay. J. Marcus Furniture, Rugs 130-36 Dock St. PREMIER DUPLEX VACUUM CLEANER. Phone M. 1373 For Demonstration.

There is no substitute for good tailoring—it is either right or wrong. It is possible to get good tailoring—don't be satisfied with anything else. Good tailoring is simply putting thought and skill into every part of a suit—not into some parts. We study four points and meet each as follows: Fabric—satisfactory. Style—the latest. Work—as near faultless as possible. Price—moderate; consistent with the other points. The cloths for Fall Suits and Winter Overcoats are here and they are a credit to the cloth-makers. Your order, on the basis of satisfaction assured, would be appreciated. GILMOUR'S 68 KING
