

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY: HOME AND ABROAD

BASKETBALL

City League Meeting.

A meeting of the City Basketball league was held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening, Roy Willet presiding. As there was a doubt expressed regarding the entry of the Alerts the meeting was postponed until next week. The intermediate teams also held a meeting and adjourned until next week.

FOOTBALL

U. N. B. Defeats King's.

The U. N. B. football team defeated King's in Windsor yesterday by a score of 9 to 3. The U. N. B. had a slight advantage in weight which combined with their fast work netted them two tries, one of which was converted. The King's boys scored their three points on a penalty drop kick.

GOLF

Miss Letich Loses.

Miss Cecil Letich was defeated in a special match with Jim Barnes, U. S. open golf champion, on the Pelham County Club links, New York, yesterday. Barnes turned in a card of sixty-eight, a new course record. Miss Letich had a medal of eighty-two, the best ever turned in by a woman over this course.

TURF

Unnamed Colt Wins.

Sir William Cook's unnamed colt by Cicero, out of Combination, won the free handicap at Newmarket Houghton, England, yesterday, defeating the favorite Sol Joe's Potentia by two lengths. Stingo finished third.

BOWLING

Games Last Evening.

In the City League the Nationals took three points from the Hamiltons. The winners totaled 1492 and the losers 1429.

In the Commercial League Ames-Holmes-McCreedy team took three points from the Imperial Optical Company. The winners totaled 1294 and the losers 1194. In the Garrison League the 6th Signal Company and the N. B. Dragons split even, each taking two points. The former totaled 1117 and the latter 1116. The R. C. O. S. No. 2 took three points from the C. A. S. C. The former totaled 1152 and the latter 1086.

The 17th C. M. G. Brigade took all four points from Headquarters. The winners totaled 1132 and the losers 1087. In St. Peter's House League the Shamrocks and Maples split even, each taking two points. The former totaled 1193 and the latter 1166.

In the Wellington league the Nashua Pulp & Paper Co. took three points from Canadian National Express. The former totaled 1206 and the latter 1160.

In the McAvity league the King street office took three points from the Rothsay avenue office. The winners totaled 1311 and the losers 1260.

A team from Jones & Schofield defeated the J. R. Robertson team from Rothsay 1260 to 1204.

HOCKEY.

Register Players.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The executive of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association met here yesterday. Plans for the season were adopted. The outstanding feature was the organization of a dominion registration committee with a chief registrar.

This is an innovation in amateur hockey and will enable the various branches to obtain the standing and status of the various players from the for the present. The registration committee will have power to investigate the standing of any player who is given a player's certificate by the provincial body under whose jurisdiction he is playing. All applications for certificates must be made to the provincial bodies and a copy of the application, whether granted or rejected, must be forwarded to the central office. This will place a greater curb on the tourist players.

FOOTBALL

Wanderers and Mt. A.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 29.—The Wanderers' Rugby team will today play a return game with the Mount Allison team in Sackville. Wanderers and the collegians tied in Halifax recently.

RING.

Friedman Wins.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) New York, Oct. 28.—Sailor Friedman, of Chicago, tonight defeated Ben-El-Mechaiech, English lightweight champion, in the seventh round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout in Madison Square Garden when Elmer's seconds tossed a towel into the ring.

Roper Knocks Out Moran.

Buffalo, Oct. 28.—Captain Bob Roper, of Chicago, knocked out Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, in the sixth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here tonight.

BASEBALL

Hausser Again in Custody.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Arnold Hausser, former star shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals, who has been on parole from the Elgin State Hospital for the Insane for the last two years, was examined at the Psychopathic Hospital recently. He was arrested on complaint of his sister, with whom he has made his home. Three deputy sheriffs said they persuaded Hausser to go with them by inviting him to go to the world's series.

CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE ENTRIES

Four senior and eight intermediate basketball teams entered the city basketball league at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Roy Willet, the president of the league, was in the chair. The teams entered in the senior section are Y. M. C. A. Seniors, Y. M. C. A. Trojans, Y. M. C. A. Alerts, and the Y. M. C. I. Seniors.

The intermediate teams entered are St. David's, Y. M. C. A. Intermediates, Y. M. C. A. Business Boys, Y. M. C. I. Intermediates, (two teams), St. George's, St. Jude's and High School. The intermediate section will be sub-divided into two branches of four teams each. One Y. M. C. I. team, Y. M. C. A. Intermediates, High School and St. David's will play in one branch and the remaining four teams will play off for the championship.

The schedules for both the senior and intermediate sections will be drawn up at a meeting to be held next Wednesday.

Their First Workout

The Y. M. C. A. Trojans, who are entered in the City senior basketball league, had their first workout of the season last evening. All of last year's team members were present.

The new man is James Fleming, who played on Acadia University senior team last year.

LESSONS IN LOVE

Constantine Belmont

Second Lesson, for 16-year-Olds.

Now at last you've reached the moment When a palpitating heart And a shining neck and collar

All are of your life a part. If the hated rival beats you, Wins your sweetie and de-camps,

You at least can make her jealous By adhesion to the vamps.

(Third lesson on Monday)

FOLIES DE-ROSE

BRITANNIA FAMOUS YACHT.

Retirement of Royal Craft Renails Races for Bennett Cup.

(New York Times)

The recent announcement from London that King George would not race the royal yacht Britannia next season, the British royal feeling that it would be unbecoming of him to spend money in an expensive sport as yacht racing when urging economies on his people, has set veteran yachtsmen on this side of the Atlantic re-examining tales of the prowess of the famous craft. Britannia has never been in American waters, but American yachts—especially in that brilliant season of 1893—raced against her in the Solent. Britannia was once winner of the Cape May Challenge Cup, offered for competition by yachts of all nations by the late Commodore James Gordon Bennett, and she lost the Bennett Cup, also a Bennett trophy.

Both cups are for ocean races. Britannia is a keel vessel of 115 net tons, 124 feet over all, and with a water-line length of eighty-seven feet. She might now be regarded as a trifle wide which, over the prescribed American course, defeated Dauntless for both Bennett trophies. The American yacht, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

The race in which Britannia lost the Bennett Cup was sailed on Sept. 12, 1893, over a course from off the Needles Rocks, arounds Cherbourg breakwater, and back to the Needles, approximately 120 nautical miles. The Britannia and the Cape May Cup had been brought to England by James G. Bennett, Sir Richard Sutton's fleet center, which, in that year, had but one day's start, was defeated by the British vessel, through choppy seas and lark darkness, and Britannia seemed to have won.

IMPERIAL ON MONDAY

LEWIS J. SELZNICK presents

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN

'POOR DEAR MARGARET KIRBY'

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

SCENARIO BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

DIRECTED BY WILLIAM P. S. EARLE

"Pride Goeth Before a Fall"

and here is Margaret Kirby, once the proud social butterfly, now running a boarding house and "making over" her gowns in a pathetic attempt to keep up appearances. The circumstances that reduced her from affluence to "gentle poverty" are most interestingly shown in this photoplay adaptation of Mrs. Norris' most human novel.

Elaine Hammerstein at Her Very Best

BRITISH-CANADIAN PATHE NEWS

Topics of the Day Concert Orchestra

THE PALACE

PHOTO-PLAYS

MAIN ST.

TODAY

See the Great Avalanche!

Amid all the wonders of this stirring drama of the frozen North, nothing stands out in the memory more than the tremendous snowslide which buries deep the gold camp of Cloudy Creek. Men, women, animals, houses, trees all go down before the mighty forces of Nature unleashed. You'll never forget this picture.

Starring EVA NOVAK

IN "WOLVES OF THE NORTH"

A thriller if there ever was one. A huge drama of the turbulent gold-camps of the Great White Wilderness—where the passions of Men know no laws in their lust for gain. See the husky dog teams sweep over the money wastes. See the wild night scenes—the strange adventures of a beautiful woman and her dog with two others. See the tragic end of Juncus Jen—the struggle against temptation of the Man-Wio-Won-Watch above all things, for the great avalanche which buries David and Rose of Spain. A dramatic and a scenic wonder.

EDDIE POLO

IN "King of the Circus"

won by a margin of less than three seconds. But the line was protested back to this country by the famous Atlantic, the property of Wilson Marshall. The following year—1905—Atlantic won the famous transatlantic race for the then German emperor's pewter trophy.

Britannia took a prominent part last summer in the regatta off Cowes, when the Seawanhaka-Corinthian challenging yachts were defeated for the British-American Cup for six-meter boats.

SAY THAT HORSE RACING INTERFERES WITH BUSINESS

Windsor, Oct. 28.—Horse racing in this city seriously interferes with business, according to replies received so far by H. E. Bustin, secretary-treasurer of Retail Merchants' Association, in answer to questions sent out Monday to members of the association.

Some 200 merchants who have already replied are almost unanimous in saying that the races affect their business unfavorably. The reason given is that their customers bet their money, and let their accounts run. All express the belief that there are too many days of racing and also too many spectators.

That the city derives any temporary or permanent benefit from the tracks is denied by most of the responses, some of them declaring that the benefits derived by some few merchants is more than offset by the losses of the others.

What the next step will be on the part of the association is not stated.

USE The Want Ad Way

HARPER PRESNAULT CIGAR COMPANY LIMITED HAMILTON CANADA

PATHEFINDER CIGARS

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

USE The Want Ad Way

IMPERIAL

TODAY ONLY

A Love Affair With a Surprise!

Two women called to the great master of the piano. One was young, romantic and beautiful. The other was his loyal and sensible wife. Just when the problem seemed most tragic, comedy stepped in—and one woman stepped out!

Goldwyn Presents

An All Star Production of

"THE CONCERT"

By Hermann Bahr

Directed By Victor Schertzinger

Serial Story "THE SKY RANGER" Chapter Eight

Concert Orchestra Big Cozy House

LAST DAY - TODAY

"MAN - WOMAN - MARRIAGE"

"A FIRST NATIONAL"

YOU'LL BE SORRY IF YOU MISS IT

One Matinee, 2.30, 10c. 2 Evening Performances, 7.45, 25c.

6th Episode "VANISHING TRAILS" at 8.30

MON. TUES. - "THE FAMILY HONOR"

King Vidor Production

FOX NEWS WEEKLY

QUEEN SQUARE

Watch—The Coming Event

DOMINO FORMAL DANCE

MATINEES 2.30, 10c. EVENINGS 7.45, 25c.

UNIQUE

A DOUBLE HEADER

Thunder Island

Featuring EDITH ROBERTS—Drama of the South Seas.

THE WORLD'S FAVORITE

CHAS. CHAPLIN in "HIS NEW JOB"

COMING MONDAY: "IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW."

OPERA HOUSE

REFINED VAUDEVILLE

TODAY AND MONDAY

Prince Ilma

Arabian Trio

In a Repertoire of Classic and Modern Harmony.

Danny Simmons

In Scotch Songs and Stories.

COMEDY and NEWS REELS

Gaiety

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

TOM MIX

"The Big Town Round-Up"

MUTT and JEFF

Cartoon Comedy

ART ACCORD

IN "The White Horseman"

Compare the Shoe We Repair

With a new one and it will be difficult to detect the difference. Our machines stitch, bevel and polish just the same as those used in making new shoes. So our repairing not alone renews serviceability, it renews beauty as well. Give the service a trial.

MOHAWK & CO.

OLD SHOES MADE NEW BY OUR GOODYEAR WELT REPAIRING SYSTEM TEL. MAIN 3997—20 NORTH MARKET ST.

MULHOLLAND, THE HATTER.

Direct Importer of English, American, Italian and Canadian High Grade Hats and Caps. Also up-to-date line of Men's Furnishings, Raincoats, Umbrellas, Trousers, Union Made Overalls and Gloves, Trunks, Club Bags and Suit Cases, etc. Lowest prices in town for high grade goods. Look for Electric Sign. Phone 3020. Store Open Evenings. 7 WATERLOO ST. (Near Union St.)

Use The WANT AD. WAY

MACDONALD'S
Cut Brier
More Tobacco for the Money
Packages 15¢
½ lb Tins 85¢
The Tobacco with a heart

PATHEFINDER CIGARS
HARPER PRESNAULT CIGAR COMPANY LIMITED
HAMILTON CANADA