CITY WELL GUARDED
BY LOCAL SOLDIERS
Officers Can Now Give Full Attention to Details

Good Reports Received From Valcarlos—Captain Sturdee's Command—Lieut. Morgan Passes Examinations
Instead of St. John being left without its proper complement of sentries at the safe-guarding, because of the departure of more than five hundred for overseas service, and the withdrawal of the regulars who were doing special patrol duty about the docks and public buildings, the city is probably better guarded than has been the case during the last few weeks.

FINE EYESIGHT
A much younger man than Dr. Boyce Travers occupied a seat beside him on a bench in King Square this morning. The young man's eyesight is very good, considering his years, but he has to wear glasses in reading a newspaper. So remarkable, therefore, did he consider the fact that Dr. Travers, although of the advanced age of 91 years of age, was able to read the paper thoroughly, small print and large, without the aid of glasses, that he thought it worthy of special mention and doubtless all readers of the Times will agree with him.

BLOOD POISONING
CAUSED BY BULLET
Physician Declares Policeman O'Leary Would Have Died of Death at Once, Had Operation Not Been Performed

Dr. W. W. White gave evidence this morning in the preliminary examination of John H. Braman on the charge of murdering Policeman Frank E. O'Leary. The deposition taken at the time of the inquest was accepted as evidence by the court. Dr. White said that blood poisoning which set in after the bullet entered the body was caused by the bullet and would not be liable to be caused by the surgical instruments, which had been thoroughly sterilized. His evidence also showed that if O'Leary had not been operated on he would have died of the disease he was shot.
