Thinking that it was studded with real gems, a burglar has stolen a gilded wreath from a statue of the Virgin in the cathedral at Clermont-Ferrand. The stones, however, were imitation, and the total value of the wreath only $30.

The multiplication of railways has not diminished the number of postal stages in Germany. On the contrary, the number of stage drivers rose from 5,175 in 1896 to 5,544 in 1900.

At a spot indicated by a water diver an artesian well was bored at Salsburgh, Lincolnshire, England, with the result that at a depth of 150 feet a spring was struck that is now yielding 64,000 gallons of water daily.

One of the great centres of chemical industry is Hamburg. The census of 1900 showed 148 establishments and a total of 4,699 persons employed—a gain in eleven years of 22 establishments and 1,263 employees. Including the factories of several adjoining towns the district has a total of 256 chemical establishments, employing 9,635 hands. There are eight factories for refining nitrate, two for making borax and eight for making sulphuric acid.

A flexible metal hose is made at Pforzheim, Germany, by rolling up a metal band like a screw thread, the joints being made tight by a cord of rubber on asbestos.

The material is galvanized steel or phosphor bronze. The hose is very flexible. Its tendency to untwist when roughly handled is overcome by making it double with opposite windings. It is intended for mining purposes, is eight inches in diameter and will stand a pressure of 200 atmospheres.

BLAIR AND SHAUGHNESSY.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy has received a letter from Hon. A. G. Blair, minister of railways, asking him to name a date on which he will be able to go to St. John.

It is probable that Sir Thomas will go soon, and the minister of railways wishes to be in St. John at the same time.

M. A. Hutchings acknowledges the receipt of $12 from Mrs. Chas. Dearborn; $5 from a friend in Sussex; $4.37, the proceeds of sale by three little girls and one little boy, work all done by themselves; and from three little girls $1.12, with promise of greater things in the future—all for benefit of the Little Girls' Home.

HE HIRED DOUKHOBORS, And Does Not Want Any More of Them.

PETERBORO, Ont., Nov. 3.—John Wallis, who has just returned from the northwest, and who resided for some time in close proximity to the Doukhobors, said: "We never know what they are going to do next. I am afraid that some day one of them with more power of leading his fellow men than the rest will rise up and declare himself inspired of God, and in the midst of his fanaticism will excite them to do some damage. It is not a very comfortable feeling to be aware that there is a whole army of foreign fanatics within a few miles of one's house. If they were but steady in their beliefs they would be tolerated, but they have shown themselves to be most erratic, and any move on their part now would not be surprising, after their peculiar actions of late. They refuse to conform to the laws of the dominion, a thing that no other foreigner does. They refuse to settle on their own land, and as soon as this country is anything like settled, what will they do?"

"Did you ever have any trouble with them?" queried the reporter.

"No, I cannot say that I have," he answered, "I never went near them. I hired a couple once, and they were good workmen, strong and able-bodied. Their physical condition, beyond being a little dirty, was all right, but their actions even when employed, are most annoying. At the close of each day they wanted their pay, and refused to accept a cent unless they were given a complete cure. They are a very suspicious and scheming. When they thought I had to rely on them for my labor they tried to raise the rate of wages, refusing to proceed in the middle of a job, so I dropped them off and since then have had nothing to do with them."

"On several occasions they have moved about mysteriously, and commotions among them are frequent. They are a curious people, and their only use, as far as I can see, is as subjects for a psychological student, and if the government wants to propagate that line of research it should put them nearer the large centres of population, where their habits can be watched."

"Are they good farmers?"

"In this country there are farms with dozens of horses and many heavy implements, and how can the Doukhobors expect to compete with these farmers by relying on power except that of their own muscles?"

"Are they in good financial circumstances now?" was then asked.

"I believe so," said Mr. Wallis, "but there is no knowing. None canner than the Doukhobors exist, and the difficulty of approaching them is one of their chief characteristics. They can be very stupidly better than any other foreigner that I ever had dealings with. A solution to the question regarding the disposing of either the sect or its fanaticism will be hard to get at, and it will take a wise head to even suggest a practical solution."

LABOR AND THE TRUSTS.

Before the Unity Club last evening Elmer Peters gave a studied, practical and deeply interesting lecture on Labor and the Trusts. After tracing the growth of the combinations of capital, characterized as trusts, the speaker discussed the causes, natural and otherwise, that have led to their organization and the various results following their establishment. It was beneficial to the labor interests rather than prejudicial to them. He spoke strongly, however, against the prevailing tendency for over capitalization, advocated certain governmental control for the protection of labor against possible depredations by trusts, and insisted that trusts should be made to pay into the revenue of the state a fair proportion of their revenue.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD.

The first regular meeting of St. Stephen's church guild for the winter of 1902-03 was held last evening, and if it may be taken as indicative of the series, the members have a season of enjoyable enjoyment before them. The entertainment was in charge of the musical committee, whose taste in the selection of a programme was emphatically endorsed by the hearty applause with which every number was received by the large audience.

The programme was made up of a piano solo by Miss Barker, vocal solos by Mrs. Chas. Taylor, J. Todd, Miss Chute and A. C. Ritchie, reading by Rev. Dr. Morrison and a violin solo by Miss Olga Smith. Each performer was obliged to respond to an encore.

FREDERICTON.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 3.—In the police court today James McCoy was convicted of violation of the Scott Act. No defence was offered. The complainant, Rev. J. J. Colter, is trying to convict McCoy of a third offence, he having been fined twice within a few months. The defence will fight the third offence conviction on legal technicalities.

Rev. J. H. Hector, the Black Knight, spoke on temperance to a crowded house at the Opera House this evening.

ANOTHER STEAMER.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—S. S. Iberian of the Leyland line, which went ashore on Friday last at Red Island, is now in Louise basin, and is said to be badly damaged. It is necessary to keep the pumps in constant action. The Iberian was on her way to Quebec when she grounded, and was to be the first steamer to take grain from the new extension of the Great Northern elevator.

SOCIETY OF SACRED STUDIES.

The Central Society held its annual conference at the Church House, London, on the 2nd of October. There was a large attendance. The Chief Warden, Rev. Professor Swete, presided, and a report of the year's work was presented by the secretary, Rev. C. F. Andrews, Fellow of Pembroke College, Cambridge. The proposed syllabus of study, an outline of which has been already published in this column, was then discussed. Recommendations in favor of greater simplicity were made and considered.

Dr. Blane (Canterbury) proposed that a double list should be issued, one for more advanced students and one of a more elementary character. A compromise was arrived at, and the general secretary's proposal was adopted that certain books in the new Syllabus, which were of a simple character, should be marked with an asterisk. It is hoped that this Syllabus will be in all C. S. S. S. members' hands before the middle of the month. A very encouraging report was given of the progress of the society in the colonies. The chairman was able to announce that a resolution had been passed unanimously by the synod of the Province of Canada commending the society to the dioceses of Canada. It was announced also that three new dioceses in New Zealand—viz., Christchurch, Waiapu, and Nelson—had welcomed the society with expressions of their value, and that the church in South Africa was taking steps in the same direction. Still further expansion was hoped for in the coming year. The membership of the society still continues to increase, and it now numbers approximately 3,000 clergy. The chief points of interest in the past year have been (i) the formation of libraries for the use of clergy (often through the generous aid of Dr. Bray's associates); (ii) the furtherance of local lectures for the clergy, which have been well attended and of great value; (iii) the beginning of a bibliography of theological study by the publication of a list of the most important books on the subject of doctrine.

Another meeting of the Society was held at New Hampton, in connection with the Church Congress. The Bishop of Salisbury (Dr. Wordsworth), well known as one of the first authorities upon early translations of the Bible, presided, and there was a good attendance, including the Peterborough Diocesan Warden (Rev. W. G. Whittingham), and other diocesan officials.

The debates at the Congress upon Miracles and Biblical Study were most important. They were briefly reported in the London Standard, and more fully in the church papers. It was a cheering sign that while churches of today are not disposed to accept the doctrine of miracles, the beginning of a logical study by the publication of a list of the most important books on the subject of doctrine.

The Rural Deaconry of Sheldale, at its last meeting, resolved to affiliate with the Society, and the names of those present were forwarded to the secretary as subscribers. It is hoped that the remaining Deaconries will also join, so as to participate in the study of the new Syllabus. The Rural Dean of St. John (Rev. Dr. Raymond), has placed the subject in the Agenda of the next meeting, to be held on the 4th of November.

Several members of our diocesan branch have expressed their intention of taking up the study of the book of Daniel, with the aid of books suggested in the Syllabus. Apart from the intrinsic importance of the subject, no better introduction to accurate biblical study could be selected. The problems concerning the question of date can be considered by reference to the well-known commentary of Dr. Pusey on the one side, and the writings of Professor Driver (in Cambridge Bible), or his Introduction to O. T. on the other. Some time ago, a boy identified as a student to consult Jerome's commentary on Daniel. (Ed. Vallars, 1768, vol. v.)

Owing to the difficulty of other lecturers coming to St. John at the present time, the secretary of the diocesan branch will lecture on Thursday next at the church of England Institute (by kind permission of the Council), on "The Methods of Theological Study." The other lectures announced will follow at intervals of a fortnight, with a due interval at the close of the year.

Gaynor, the merits of offering prayer for the deceased; the efficacy of such a memento; that it was a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead at those times and seasons, and more especially during the month of November.
