

- entry under treaties, etc., UK-US, 1818); acceptance of special arbitration agreement, nominations to tribunal, 457-59 (see also Newfoundland); possible compensation claims under award, 456, 460, 803; arbitral award and resulting claims, 461, 461n, 813; effect on modus vivendi, 462; procedures for carrying out award, 461-81—main entry in next section
- fisheries regulations, procedures for determining validity of, 461-507; how the modus vivendi was established, 500; objections to regulations, consultation method vs. reference to expert commission, 461-66; Canadian delegation to Washington talks, 467; results of negotiations, 468-72; effect of concurrent negotiations for removal of US duty on fish, 786-87, 789-90; reduction of licence fees for US fishing vessels, 789-90, 794-95; definition of internal bays, 474, 479-81; procedures for dealing with future objections to regulations, 472-75; Canadian and US objections to existing conditions, 476-78; renewed talks in Washington on procedures for dealing with complaints, 478-79; Newfoundland's difficulties over definition of bays, 480-81; conclusion and ratification of agreement, 481 (see also below, Atlantic and Pacific coasts); position of French fishing vessels under new legislation, 481-84; additional privileges requested for American fishing vessels in return for removal of duty on fish, 485-86, 501; Newfoundland not prepared to grant fresh privileges, 487-88, 490-91; Canada responds by seeking greater privileges for its vessels in US ports, 489-95 passim, 501; control of American lobster-fishing, 489-90, 496-98, 500-2, 504; conservation of Lake Champlain fisheries, 504
- Atlantic and Pacific coasts: Canada proposes conventional settlement of regulations for fisheries on both coasts, 27, 496-97; Pacific coast problems, 491-93, 496-97, 501 (see also below, Pacific coast); joint commission of inquiry, 498; delegations to conference, 499; report on Washington talks and Pacific coast investigations, 499-504; origin of modus vivendi licensing system and restrictions on Canadian vessels in US ports, 500; text of Canadian proposals for general fisheries settlement, Atlantic and Pacific coasts, 501-2; consultation of New England and Maritimes fishing interests, 502-4; US coasting trade regulations, 494-95, 502; continuing objections to Canadian licensing system, 503; and to duty on fish and bounties for Canadian vessels, 504; mutual accommodation, wartime use of ports, 505-7
- Pacific coast: effect of boundary disputes on fishermen, 384-85, 387, 400-2, 405, 419; free fishing in Pacific Ocean, 413, 444; transportation between Canadian and US ports, 491-93, 496; new regulations proposed, 497, 501-2; interests of Japanese fishermen, 618; conservation of salmon in B.C., 632, 632n, 633
- Fisheries Protection Service, 236, 242, 280, 384, 400, 837—see also Marine and Fisheries, Department of, treatment of American fishermen
- Fitzpatrick, Sir Charles, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Canada, 1906-18, Deputy Governor General and Administrator of Government of Canada, 281, 401, 410, 412, 482, 492, 517, 520, 624, 629, 748; appointment to pecuniary claims arbitral commission, 815, 818—see also Administrator
- Flanders, 1917 offensive, 201, 334—see also Belgium, Canadian casualties, Pas-schendalee
- Florizel, 145
- Foley, E. J., 78
- Food Controller, 27, 188—see also Hanna, W. J.
- foodstuffs, wartime, 1914-15, 61, 75, 77, 88-90, 98-100, 103, 106, 286; 1916-17, 110, 117, 170-72, 175-77, 179, 188, 305, 315-16; 1918, 196-97, 499, 502-5
- Foreign Minister (France), rights of French fishing vessels in Canadian waters, 481, 484; duty on agricultural machinery, 721-22—see also Pichon, S.
- (Italy), trade relations with Canada, 728
- (Japan), control of emigration, 635
- (Russia, Assistant Minister), pelagic sealing, 510-11
- Foreign Office, Foreign Secretary (UK), courtesies shown to Canada in consular and commercial matters, 6, 14-15; Canadian representation in Paris and Washington, 7, 9-10, 28; role in conduct of Imperial affairs, 30; Canada and the Monroe Doctrine, 54-55; war orders,