

SHE WENT ASTRAY.

SEEKING AFAR WHAT MAY BE FOUND AT ONE'S OWN FIRESIDE.

The invalid proprietress of a wealthy estate in Scotland once visited the continent of Europe to get rid of her maladies.

She went to Baden-Baden and tried those celebrated waters, then to Carlsbad and tried its mineral springs. She got worse instead of better, and in despair she said to a physician:

"What shall I do?"

His reply was: "Medicine can do nothing for you. You have one chance, in the waters of Pit Keathly, Scotland?"

"Is it possible?" she replied, "why, those waters are on my own estate?"

Invalids go tramping over the world, unsuccessfully seeking the relief that often lies right at their own doors.

Change of climate and travel is no doubt beneficial in some classes of disease, but it is impossible to secure, while travelling, the proper care and nursing, the cheerful comforts of home, which are often necessary adjuncts to medicine in promoting recovery.

In many ailments arising, as so many do, from derangements of those primary organs, the kidneys and liver, with the proper remedy to use, recovery is much more rapid at one's own fireside.

Major S. B. Abbott, of Springfield, Mo., was attacked with serious troubles and after a long course of medical treatment, tried to find relief at Hardin Sulphur Springs in California, and visited a number of other noted health resorts, but all to no purpose. At last he went home—he was induced to try Warner's Safe Cure for his kidney troubles and soon became a well man.

Dr. Gustav Weber, a leading physician of Dessau, Germany, writes Warner's Safe Cure Co's branch at Frankfurt: Sept. 12th, 1887: "For many years I have suffered from inflammation of the kidneys, and each year was obliged to visit Carlsbad for temporary relief. I have finished my fifteenth bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and have completely recovered."

The main thing is to find the right remedy, then recovery from all the many ailments that are the result of kidney derangement is most easily secured at home surrounded by home comforts. There are few diseases for which travel is, on the whole, beneficial, but there are many which may be cured by putting the kidneys in a healthy state, thus driving the cause of the disease from the system.

THE MOST FOR THE MONEY.

"I want to get the most for my money," was the resolution with which Harry Martin left his home one afternoon.

"I want to get the most for my money," he repeated, as he walked past store after store, where the tempting delicacies of the season were displayed temptingly to view.

To do Harry justice, it was not solely of himself that he was thinking in making this resolve. He had some dear little sisters at home, with whom he wanted to share whatever he might purchase. And this it was that increased his difficulty, and made him pause a long time before he spent the little present which had been given him in the morning. He could soon have spent all his money on one lump of cake for himself, but this would not do, he said. So he walked about from shop to shop saying to himself:

"I want to get the most for my money."

At length he arrived at a fruit stand and where the windows were filled with piles of beautiful apples.

"Hurrah! I have found the right shop at last," he cried, and without a moment's pause he entered, saying as he pointed to the fruit.

"I want to get the most of these for my money," and he boldly held out his piece of silver.

By and by he left the shop quite loaded with the fruit. In fact he had almost more than he could himself carry, and there was a joyous feast at home.

Most of our joys may be increased by admitting others to share in them.

When generous boys and girls can pause in their pleasure to think of and provide for absent brothers and sisters, their own pleasure is sure to be made more real and lasting. Harry Martin found it so. But if you want to spoil all that God gives you, if you want to be miserable yourself and maker of misery to others, the way is easy enough. Only be selfish, and it is done at once.

THE DUSTY ROOM.

A young girl was sweeping a room one day, when she went to the window blind and drew it down. "It makes the room so dusty," she said, "to have the sunshine always coming in."

The atoms of dust which were unseen in the dimmer light shone golden in the sunbeams. The untaught girl imagined it was the sunlight which made the dust.

Now many people imagine themselves very good people. One poor old man, who lived all his life without a thought of love to God, said he was willing to die. He didn't owe any man a shilling.

If the Spirit of God should shine brightly into such a heart, how would it look? It would show him sins enough to crush him.

The light of the Spirit is like the sunshine in the dusky room. When we begin to feel unhappy about our sins, let us never try to close the shutters, keep out the Spirit, and fancy there is no dust. It is the Holy Spirit's voice in our hearts. He is showing us ourselves. But, better still, he will show us the true way to happiness
