

"The Winnipeg Free Press is one of the most untiring advertisers of Western Canada."—Chicago News.

"A great Canadian newspaper is the Winnipeg Free Press. It is of itself one of the most noted products of the great and growing western country which it has done so much to make known to the outer world."—Charlottetown Guardian, Prince Edward Island, Canada.

"Undoubtedly one of the greatest newspapers in the world."—Charlottetown Patriot, Prince Edward Island, Canada.

"The Free Press continues to hold a leading position among Canadian Dailies."—St. Catherine's Star-Journal, Ontario, Canada.

"The Free Press is a credit to Manitoba and to Canada."—Hamilton Times, Ontario, Canada.

"The Free Press, that great metropolitan daily journal."—Grain Growers' Guide, Winnipeg, Canada.

"The Free Press, one of the most progressive of the Canadian newspapers."—The Daily Republican, Springfield, Mass., United States.

"The Winnipeg Free Press has long been regarded as an authority on Western progress."—Times, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Canada.

"The Free Press, which has long been the greatest newspaper west of the Great Lakes."—Halifax Chronicle, Nova Scotia, Canada.

"The Winnipeg Free Press is certainly an enterprising paper and is deserving the great prosperity which it now enjoys. The Free Press is very successful in keeping Manitoba in the public eye."—Port Hope Evening Guide, Ontario, Canada.

"The Free Press devotes its columns to the upbuilding of Manitoba and the northern limits of America."—St. Louis Republic, Missouri, U.S.

"The Winnipeg Free Press, that flourishing paper."—The Vancouver Province, British Columbia, Canada.

"The Free Press is certainly a nation builder."—Fort Frances Times, Ontario, Canada.

"The Winnipeg Free Press, which is ever foremost in advertising the Northwest, its people and its prosperity."—Red Deer Advocate, Alberta, Canada.

"If energetic, enterprising and patriotic journalism deserves adequate reward—as far as is possible in this world—the Winnipeg Free Press should have unlimited largesse showered upon it in respect of its persistent, original and even picturesque efforts to "boom" Manitoba and the Northwest, and exploit the apparently inexhaustible story of their resources."—Peterboro Examiner, Ontario, Canada.

"It would be astonishing were such a go-ahead city without some enterprising newspaper. And, of course, Winnipeg has one. It is the Winnipeg Daily Free Press."—The Brooklyn Citizen, New York, U.S.

"The Winnipeg Free Press is, in many respects, the greatest newspaper in Canada."—The Duluth Herald, Minnesota, U.S.

"The Free Press, a newspaper whose own rapid expansion from a very modest beginning offers an interesting parallel to the growth in recent years of Manitoba, and generally of the far northwestern British provinces."—Daily Advocate, Stamford, Conn., U.S.

"The Free Press, one of the greatest newspapers in our great Western country."—Daily News, Truro, N.S., Canada.