

made to improve the various races of bees. There are many obstacles in the way of success that breeders of other kinds of stock have not to contend with; the most obvious of which is the difficulty in controlling mating. Another arises from the parthenogenic origin of the male. However, we believe that the same determination to succeed that has characterized the operations of bee-keepers in the past, will enable them to produce varieties of bees far superior to those we have at present time.—W. One Magazine and One Newspaper are indispensable to every person of intelligence.

The "one magazine" is Current Literature, because it alone sweeps the whole field of human thought and action in both hemispheres.

It contains a monthly review of the world's news; quotations from and comments on the press of the world; numerous graphic cartoons and other illustrations; photographs and biographic sketches of the conspicuous personalities of the month; the most recent advances in science and discovery; the noteworthy events in religion, literature and art; critical reviews of the best fiction, dramatic and musical works; a page of the best humor and a condensation of the leading play of the month.

It gathers impartially from every field of human thought and activity those facts which are best worth knowing and gives the reader a clear, well-defined and illuminating view of what the whole world is doing.
