SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN. Minister of Public Works Visits

Stratford, Aug. 30.—Sir Hector Langevin and party arrived by the 9.30 train from London this morning, and were metat the station by Mr. Hesson, M. P., Mr. D. Scrimgeour, acting Mayor, the members of the Council, and several leading citizens. Carriages were in waiting and the party at once drove to the town hall, whore Mr. R. Smith, Q. C., town solicitor, read an address. Mr. Langevin replied in a suitable and pleasing manner which gained him the good will of all. This closed the proceedings in the hall, and Sir Hector was conducted to Shakespeare square, the site offered by the Council for the new post office. After a careful inspection the hon, gentleman expressed himself satisfied therewith, and a visit was paid to several points of interest throughout the town, notably the high school, the churches, Grand Trunk workshops, and the Thompson & Williams Co's works. Sir Hector expressed himself both surprised and gratified at the solid appearance of the town, and the evidences of prosperity which were visible on all sides. At 12.30 co'clock the visitors were entertained at the Albion hotel by the Town Council. The affair was purely non-political, the invitations extended by the Council being limited to fifty. Full justice having been done to the several courses a few minutes remained before the departure of the train, and the interval was filled with a few loyal and patriotic loasts. The leading boat, "Our Guest" elicited from Sir Hector a neat speech, which was applauded to the choc. At this juncture the train was announced, and with cheers and hand shaking the company adjourned with Sir Hector to the station, where he took the train for Berlin, accompanied by Mr. Hesson, M. P.

The following synopsis of Sir Hector's remarks in reply to the address of welcome presented him by the citizens of Stratford is taken from the Times:

Sir Hector Langevin, who we understand is a vigorous speaker in his native language, gave a calm and tompered consider this a compliment. But coming from gentlement of both political parties of consider it a double compliment." His compatriots of French origin in Quebec, he said, consider it a compliment to their race, that one of themselves should so long have been one of Her Majesty's advisers, and it was an honor they were proud of. The loyalty of the French Canadians to the British Crown, and their attachment to the Queen was a remarkable factuard in the whole course of his travels he had not found a people more loyal to British institutions than the French Canadians. In their name and on his own behalf he thanked the people of Stratford, who through their representatives had tendered him secondial a reception.

PRETIDENT GARRIELD, having passed through the or sis of Friday last, is now not he fair road to recovery. Since the turn in the tide he has gradually been growing stronger, and his physicians consider him almost out of danger.

THE TOMATO COOP IMPERILLED.—An exchange says: Tomatoes have been attacked by a new disease, and the crop, it is said, will be a failure. The largest growers say that two thirds of the crop is unfit for market. The origin of the disease is a mystery. In the first stage a slight discoloration appears underneath the blossom stem. In the next stage a sinking in of the surface is apparent. Then general decay sets in. The tomatoes are affected alike, whether green or ripening. No insects can be detected, and some farmers think that the rot is due to climate changes, such as an excess of heat.

Robert Shortreed, of Harriston, returning home at a late hour attempted to cross the cattle guards at the G. T. R. crossing, and slipped between the stringers. He made desperate efforts to extricate himself, but the narrow bars held his foot fast, and as he expected a train along every moment to cut him to pieces his mental torture was terrible. He remained in this critical position for over an hour until his critical position. As a rule we do not recommend Patent Medicines, but when we know of one that the history of the state of the st
