The Extent to Which Anglophobia has Driven the People of Germany.

London, Jan. 13 .- A remarkable arcicle appears in to-day's Times under he caption of "Literature of German Anglophobia," recounting the characer of the anti-British cartoons which have appeared in the German newspapers, "which," says the Times, "in carseness, obscenity and venom are without a parallel in modern times.' The wisdom of the publication of the article at this juncture is much ques tioned. The Star says-"The Times to-day, of all days, begins a series of articles on the offensive German cariatures. The Times ought to hesitate before it deliberately flogs the passion of the people. Are our publicists mad? Can yet they not see the abyss towards which they are hounding this long-suffering nation?" The Times article, which is two colmns long, says :- "These papers are not gutter sheets, but are sold everywhere at the stations of the state railroad, even at Potsdam station, where the Emperor is constantly travelling He was finally obliged to personally order their removal. Neither are these papers anonymous. One of the most infamous of all, entitled the "Boe War,' bears on the title pages the names of persons distinguished in the literary and artistic world of Germany. From a purely technical standpoint the paper is an art production, but it is difficult to find words to convev a notion of the filth which its cultured artists and writers venture to ay before its cultured German read-

British soldiers are reported as obbing the dead; Mr. Chamberlain's state coach is depicted as a cart laden with skeletons, and King Edward is shown dead drunk in his bed-room, eceiving the news of Cronje's surrender. But the crowning piece is a cartoon entitled, 'Hero Worship.' The then Princess of Wales, Queen Vic-toria and the Prince of Wales standing, with the young princesses by her side, is decorating a youthful soldier, The legend underneath reads textual-ly:—An English princess decorating the youngest soldier in the British army with the Victoria Cross, because, although only thirteen, he has already outraged eight Boer women This obscenity, sold in respectable shops, was eagerly bought by the pub-lic and lies on fashionable drawingroom tables."

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

John Turner, Richmond street, had a very narrow escape in a runaway accident at Comber yesterday afternoon about four o'clock.

He went to Comber yesterday on business and hired a horse, rig and driver for the purpose of making a trip through the country. They had not driven far before the horse became unmanageable and ran away. The driver did all in his power to check the ammal but failed to do so. In attempting to turn out in order o pass another rig both he and Mr Turner were thrown in the ditch and he two rigs collided.

Mr. Turner was rendered unconcious but recovered in a few minutes when it was found that he had received slight injuries to his back and face. He arrived home last evening and will be laid up for a few days It was a very fortunate thing that Mr. Turner escaped as easily as he

McEWEN AT THE GRAND.

P. H. McEwen, the great Scottish hypnotist, entertained a larger number of people at the Grand last evening, Prof. McEwen, who is evening, Prof. McEwen, who is known as the world's greatest hyp-motist and mind reader, is always a welcome visitor in Chatham rowded house gave decided evidence as to this last evening And those who were present were fully satisfied with the performance which was given. All enjoyed them-selves immensely and not only that but they left the house feeling that they had learned something, and having a far greater interest and respect for hypnotic work as exemplified by Prof. McEwen.

Prof. McEwen.

The evening was opened by a cornet solo by E. N. Smith, late of Sousa's band. Mr. Smith's solos are a sousa's band. Mr. Smith's solos are a valuable addition to any program, and the rendition given last evening was far in excess of anything attempted in the city for some time. His great forte is in triple-tongue work, and the tone which he gets out of his instrument is simply marvellous. Mr. Smith is certainly an artist in cornet solo work, and his execution would have to be judged from the very highest critical standpoint. He was forced or respond to an encore.

Mr. McEwen then made his appearance and was enthusiastically received showing that his visit to Chatham last year has not been forgotten. Before commencing the practical part of the program he gave a short introductory speech in which he clearly pointed out his views of hypnotism, after which a number took seats upon the stage and were operated upon with a most amusing and at the same time interesting result.

same time interesting result.

A the conclusion of the program he illustrated through Miss Grace M. Maynard, the cataleptical state of hypnotism. Miss Maynard is only II years of age and weighs 80 pounds, and the wonderful strength of her frail body when in this state is very wonderful and well worth seeing.

Prof. McEwen will remain at the Grand, during the remainder of the week, and, judging from last night's performance, he will be greeted with humper houses during his whole stay here.
