

OMAR PACHA.

In a work so difficult as the regeneration of an entire nation he had many fellow-labourers. Amongst them the first undoubtedly was an eminent man whose talents as a diplomatist London and Paris have but too often recognized...

Such was the civil capacity Omar had displayed in the midst of so many labors, he ran through all the degrees of the army. Kol Agassi, (Aide-de-camp), Bim Basal, (Commandant), Miralay, (Colonel), Eya, (General of Brigades), and so on...

At this hour he is the first general of the Ottoman army on the Danube, and more than two hundred thousand men, according to the latest accounts, are subject to his command.

Independently of his ability—which the successes he has obtained, the eminent military degree he has won, and his actual position, amply testify to—Omar has a boldness of conception which never degenerates into rashness, a confidence in himself which he was able to inspire in his soldiers...

His military capabilities, indeed, have had no decisive opportunity of showing themselves in the teeth of disciplined troops. It is, nevertheless, undeniable, that he has availed himself of an energetic discipline to double the power of his forces before the enemy, whom he has almost invariably beaten.

Omar's domestic life is very far from being tainted with the debauchery that is generally admitted, and often falsely, to the private conduct of the Moslems. He has had no more than two wives; and though he was allowed to have them contemporaneously, he did not marry the second until after his divorce from the first.

Engaged in all the struggles of the two parties during the most important period of their existence, the political instrument of their country, he was always regarded the necessity of drawing the sword against his fellow-subjects. It was farthest from his wish to shed it with blood, even to impose what was, in the common sense, the common advantage...

the improvement of society in all its developments. But of these ill-omened redoubts Turkish subjects were the arms, while the head was inevitable, and kept itself in security from his blows, beyond the frontiers.

Often, even far from the noise of arms, he baffled the plots of the invidious enemies of Turkey. The most enviable of his bloodless victories was the cause of the Hungarian refugees, whom he met at Shumla, whether he had purposely repaired.

The insurrection, indeed of Moldavia, Roumania, and Poland, has been no inconsiderable help to the progress of Turkey in late years. The popular sentiment excited by them, because they were the enemies of its enemies; and the sympathy of the cause that drew them to its aid, formed an immense and rapid impetus to the reform party.

The internal contest has now disappeared before the external. Omar Pacha holds united under his banner both old and young Turkey. He found himself one day, belonging in an equal degree, to the one and to the other; it was on that day when both assembled under his orders on the banks of the Danube.

All the vessels of both parties will sail from New York under the American flag, and every sailor has hired himself for one year, and the vessel for one.

THE COURT OF CHANCERY AND THE CUSTOM HOUSE ABOLISHED IN NEW BRUNSWICK.—We have the satisfaction of announcing to-day that the last mail from England brought despatches which give the finishing blow to the Court of Chancery, and the Imperial Custom House in this Province.

THE PILOT.—The master of the ship something to be idle, to sit still and to do nothing. He stretch out the pump, he drieveth not the oars, he soundeth not the deep, he rideth not the ropes, he scatcheth not the shrouds, he runneth not hither and thither, forward or backward, under the hatches or above.

At the last session of the General Assembly of this Province, an Act was passed for abolishing the Court of Chancery, and transferring its equity jurisdiction to the Supreme Court, as also the Master of the Rolls to the bench of that Court, in an additional Judge. The Royal assent had been given to this Act; and the Hon. Neville Parker, late Master of the Rolls, has been gazetted a Justice of the Court of Chancery in no more who will mourn it? None but those who profited by its interminable prolixity, endless delays, and monstrous expenses.

The Lords of the Treasury have for some time past had under its consideration the propriety of abolishing and reducing the Imperial Customs in this Province. Finally, they have arrived at the sensible conclusion that it was best to abolish the establishment altogether; and by last mail, an order was received for closing it immediately.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

THE ARMED EXPEDITION AGAINST MEXICO. A few days ago we stated that rumours were in circulation that several vessels were arming in this port, under the auspices of General Alvarez and the revolutionary party in Mexico.

Among the vessels bought with this or other money, we are told, were the screw steamer Benjamin Franklin, formerly trading from New York to New Orleans, and the bark, Catarina Augustus. The propeller was altered and fitted up recently by Mr. William Esling, at Greenpoint, Long Island, as a war steamer.

The bark Catarina Augustus took on board powder, gun-carriages and other articles of war, at the foot of North Moore st., and was to be transferred to the Franklin at sea. The Benjamin Franklin is loaded with coal and stores, and a limited quantity of small arms.

How soon they will leave will depend, probably, upon the movements of the Santa Ana. Gen. Alvarado, who is probably informed of what is afoot, may detain the Santa Ana, in which case the sailing of the chaceurs may be indefinitely delayed.

The Santa Ana is nearly ready to depart for Vera Cruz. Sixty foreigners have also shipped as emmen; but they will go out as passengers. She is worth $180,000, and if the Alvarez party succeed in capturing her, they will get something of a prize, irrespective of the indemnity money which she will probably bring forward.

The Imperial Government takes care of the officers of Customs that will be dismissed, and the whole duties hitherto performed by them will hereafter be executed at the Provincial Treasury.

WELFARE ACADEMY, Mount Allison.—The new Branch of the Academy designed for Females was opened on the 17th ult., with five pupils, and other exercises suited to the occasion. The total number of students in the two branches of the Institution amounted on the eighth day of the term to one hundred and ninety.

The best evidence that can be adduced in favor of the efficaciousness of Hoodland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, is the unprecedented demand for them from all parts of the Union; and although there may be many compounds prepared and represented as being worthy of a liberal patronage, yet we feel constrained to remark, that the vast number of testimonials which the worthy doctor has been honored, by persons of the highest character and respectability, who found it necessary to have recourse to his preparation, is testimony sufficiently conclusive, that a more efficacious remedy for the almost insupportable relief of those afflicted with that distressing malady, dyspepsia, has never been discovered.

HASZARD'S GAZETTE.

Wednesday, September 27, 1854.

We have always been of opinion, and we are anxious to confess — to find others to be of the same way of thinking, that the greatest plan of converting men from the folly of intemperance is, to show that a total abstinence from all stimulating drinks, so far from making men dull and stupid, is the great source of social, domestic and individual happiness.

The opening of the General Assembly took place yesterday according to Proclamation. We missed, we confess, the Guard of Honor. We give the Lieut. Governor's Speech, by which it will appear that little else is contemplated than the passing an Act recognizing the Reciprocity Treaty, the providing a Follor or some other force in lieu of the Military, lost by the refusal of the Legislative Council to a similar bill last Session, and the establishment of a Normal School for teachers.

The determination of Her Majesty's Government in this respect, has been more than once communicated to you by my predecessor, and you have had reason to expect that it would have been carried into effect at an earlier period. Should any difference of opinion exist, with regard to the mode in which it is to be met, it must be settled by the Legislature.

The public accounts shall, in due course, be submitted to you. I have much satisfaction in informing you that the state of the Revenue, so far as it can be ascertained at this period, indicates the progressive prosperity of the Colony.

In my recent excursion through this beautiful Island I have been much gratified by the evidence of enterprise, industry and contentment, which every where presented themselves, and still more by the spirit of loyalty and attachment to Her Majesty's Person and Throne which pervades all classes of the people.

I have observed with much satisfaction a general and growing appreciation of the advantages of education throughout the Island. I recommend to your consideration the benefits that would result from the establishment of a Normal School for Teachers.

have the satisfaction of announcing that the traffic in intoxicating liquors has been suppressed by law, and this fertile Island released from its curse for ever. We thank you for the information that the National Division has contemplated calling out some Missionary Lecturers, and hope that in the execution of their labours, our beloved Island will not be forgotten.

Wishing you and your Lady a safe return to the domestic hearth, and trusting that the short visit you have made to our healthy climate, will induce just returns, induced by the severe order which your country has recently undergone, and from which a kind Providence has exempted us. We subscribe ourselves in L. P. and F. on behalf of the order.

Charlotteville, 26th Sept. 1854. Brother: Be pleased to convey to the members of the order residing in the Island my grateful acknowledgments for the kind expressions contained in the address just presented. My feelings have been one of pleasure, and I will require no urgent solicitations to renew it.

The National Division will be gratified to learn that in selecting a British Colonel as Lecturer, your action has met with your approval. That the products of your beautiful and fertile Island, designed by a kind Providence for the sustenance of man, shall no longer be converted into a "social poison," and that the traffic in all intoxicating liquors may speedily be suppressed, in an extent and manner desired, in any arrangements that may be made by the National Division for the employment of Lecturers, your interests will not be lost sight of.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly: I am happy to meet you in your Legislative capacity, although the season at which I have been obliged to call you together must, I fear, occasion inconvenience to many of you.
