

BEAVER FLOUR

makes a big loaf and a deliciously white loaf of bread because it is a blend of Ontario Fall wheat and Manitoba Spring Wheat.

It is a perfectly balanced flour—as good for Pastry as it is for Bread.

Best for both.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

She was not a shop girl and never worked in a department store.

She wanted that distinctly understood.

So, in an interview given shortly after her elopement, the pretty new wife of the son of our Secretary of State is quoted as announcing, and as announcing most emphatically.

It seems to me that she has more reason to be ashamed of that elopement than of the elopement.

When men and women learn not to be ashamed of any honest work, whether done with hands or brains, we shall have taken a long step towards establishing a real democracy in America.

But as long as some men and women are weak enough to be ashamed of their work, other men and women will assume a superiority over them, and we shall have a false foundation for class distinctions.

Notice I say "weak enough." That's because I think it is almost as bad for a man to take the attitude which allows others to look down on him because of his work, as it is for those to whom he offers this opportunity to take it.

I do think it is the inevitable that class distinctions should exist.

I believe that some people are and always will be, until the millennium comes, inferior to others.

That all men "are created free and equal" must mean, of course, equal in respect to their rights, for all men certainly are not equal in mental, physical or moral qualities.

But I do believe that the class distinction should never be made along the line of the work a man or woman does.

I have seen shop girls who would grace a throne.

And I have met at least one woman of tremendous wealth who would look far more in place behind a counter than in the flower-fragrant, brocade-decked drawing rooms of her magnificent mansion.

Mrs. A. Webster-Powell, a rich New York woman, recently took two girls from the East Side, dressed them in Paris gowns, hung them with jewels, and introduced them at a function in her home as friends.

They were universally admired.

Several men—among them a very eligible millionaire and a count—became distinctly interested in the young women.

No one outside the secret had the slightest suspicion that there was anything unusual about their appearance in society.

Remarkable? Not at all.

I am sure there are plenty of women from the leisure class who could be placed behind a counter or in a factory without creating any more of a ripple.

Listen, shoppirls—Listen, all women who have ever at any time been ashamed of honest work.

There are castes in society, but it isn't the work you do or don't do, that gives you your caste. It's how you do that work and what you are.

Of course, you must have heard that before.

The knowing of it is nothing new. But I want you to do more than know it. I want you to realize it and live it.

Don't say "A shoppirl is just as good as anyone else," and then go off on a vacation and try to hide the fact that you are a shoppirl.

All shoppirls aren't as good as anyone else, any more than all women of leisure are as good as anyone else.

But I want you to make your own particular shoppirl just as good and refined and educated and in every way worthy as you know-how, and to respect her and her work, and if you do I am pretty sure that you'll get your reward in the respect of other people.

Ruth Cameron

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her best and loveliest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as strictly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

If your furniture has grown streaked and dull, try rubbing it with flannel dipped in equal parts of turpentine and coal oil. It polishes quickly and much more cheaply than the expensive polishes.

When paring any kind of fresh fruit if the hands are washed off immediately with cold water instead of being washed in warm water and soap, there will be very little danger of unsightly stains.

A good homemade furniture polish is composed of linseed or salad oil and vinegar. Mix well with a stick until the oil does not float on the surface. Apply with a flannel and rub off with linen.

Metal buttons and ornaments may frequently harmonize with some new garment. After the desired color has been applied they should be so varnished that they will resemble enamel. The drying process will require several days.

If powdered silver polish is mixed to a thin paste with olive oil, well rubbed into every crevice of the silver and left for a few hours, the silver after being washed in the usual way will be bright and free from stain.

Roll pieces of calves' tongue in a thin slice of bacon, hold together with a silver skewer, flour and cook to a delicate brown. Serve on chop dish with garnishings of cress. Pass a thick, creamy gravy in silver sauce boat.

Save all bits of fat for two purposes. The best can be clarified for frying and the rest made up into soap. Remember in making soap that a teaspoonful of salt added to every ten pounds of grease improves the quality of the soap.

Instead of cold deviled eggs, try these: Stuff in usual way, put two halves together, dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry at the last minute in boiling fat. Serve on round silver platters with a centre of green peas and a border of thick tomato purée.

Hysterical Tendencies

Are They on the Increase in the Young Women of Today?

Our daughters, by denial of the simpler modes of living in which our grandmothers flourished, are developing into mere bundles of nerves. In this brief, but all too true, conclusion Mrs. S. E. Powers, well known in Bridgeport, proceeds to say that no responsibility rests with greater force upon parents than that of fortifying the over-strained nerves of their children by a judiciously selected tonic and careful diet. "My third daughter had just finished her high school course. She gave signs of absence of repose—lacked self-control—was nervous—irritable, and very high strung. She had formerly always shown excellent temper and judgment, and these outbursts of impatience and temper clearly indicated her health must be at fault. I was advised to give her Ferrozone and got four boxes at once. I took particular care to see that she ate regularly and sufficiently of nutritious food. Had she not been built up by Ferrozone, it is hard to say what serious troubles might have been developed. Certainly Ferrozone is a splendid medicine for such troubles, weakness and ill-health as young girls suffer from."

Every growing girl and boy, in fact any person in low or debilitated health, will be quickly built up by Ferrozone—try one or two tablets at meal time; 50c per box, six for $2.50, all dealers, or The Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Charivaria.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Mr. Editor.—One of the most amusing columns of Punch is that which contains the short items and comments under the name or heading of "Charivaria." It consists of local allusions, to current events, extracts from newspaper paragraphs containing amusing errors or "bulls" and so forth. Many a good item appears from time to time in our papers, and it seems to me a pity they should be lost, and it has occurred to me, Mr. Editor, that you might be inclined, when short of copy, or when there is no very important matter, such as the Guy Centenary or our agricultural capabilities engrossing public attention, to accept a few of this "Charivaria" to fill up a vacant corner of your paper. In this hope I send you the following:

A short time since in the report of the Municipal Council it was complained that "offensive water was percolating through the fence of a backyard to the annoyance of neighbors." "Ordered that the matter be laid before the owner of the back yard in question with a view to its removal." There could be no more effectual means adopted; we may rest assured that when the water in question is laid on the breakfast table, together with the morning eggs, we shall not be troubled much longer with "the nuisance."

It was announced recently that "the Bellaventure struck the 'harp' on the 17th of March." No more appropriate method could be devised for celebrating the festival of St. Patrick.

A Modern Rip Van Winkle.

A notice appeared recently stating that a worthy citizen would give a lecture on "Rambles through St. John's for the past hundred years"; and as it was also stated that the lecturer, being born in St. John's, could speak from personal experience, no doubt a most interesting treat was in store for the audience.

An accident occurred to a motor car on Queen Street the other day. There were two children and a woman in the car. The reporter carefully records that the "machine was overturned and completely smashed up." The circumstance as to what occurred to the woman and children was considered too trifling to be worthy of note by the reporter.

This reminds us of an account which appeared in a French paper some time ago of a distinguished traveller and scientist who was swallowed up by an alligator on the Nile. The paper sympathetically adds, "The poor creature died of indigestion."

CHARIVARIA.

Here's Something Like a Collection.

New York, April 1.—All records for church collections in a single Sunday are believed to have been broken by the $160,000 contribution made at the Easter service at Grace Church, in this city. The money will be devoted to the memorial of the late Dr. William R. Huntington, formerly rector.

PRACTISING CRICKET.—Among many of the younger generation there is a tendency to revive the noble game of cricket in St. John's, and the students of Bishop Field College are hard at work now practising. They will have a good team in the inter-collegiate contest this season.
