

Gotch Will Retire.

Chicago, June 2.—Frank Gotch says he will now retire to his farm in Iowa. In a statement a few hours after defeating Zebyszko he said: "I won and now I am through with the wrestling game. I am 33 years old and it is to be the simple life for me in the future. A good many wrestlers have waited too long and have been beaten. I am going to try to avoid that. The first fall with Zebyszko came as I had planned it, the second was hard, in fact as tough a bout as I have been in. There was no time wasted or I could not have thrown the Pole as I did. I will leave for the coast and see if I can help Jefferies out and then there will be a long rest coming for me."

Zebyszko said: It was no disgrace to be beaten by a man like Gotch, he is a Cyclone that is what you call it, is it not? I had hoped, to defeat the champion and take the title back to Europe with me, now since I have lost I am going home just the same as fast as the boat will carry me. I have no protest on the first fall. It is true I was not set and had at least expected to shake hands with my opponent. I was slightly hurt in the second bout, which to some extent accounted for my defeat.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Head Constable Peet and family wish to express their sincere thanks to all the friends who sympathized with them in their recent sad bereavement, and the following friends who so kindly sent wreaths: Mrs. Wm. Undeniably Imitations

We make a serious charge when we say that all other prepared roofings are substitutes for Ruberoid. But aside from the unquestionable priority of our trade mark, we are willing to prove that other roofings trade not only on the name, but on the reputation of Ruberoid.

We will prove it in this way: We have usually but one dealer in a town. We will tell you by letter of this dealer's name.

If you are not satisfied that others are trading on the fame of Ruberoid, go, please, to the other dealers.

Ask them for Ruberoid. Hear what they say. See what they do. We will leave the superiority of Ruberoid to what these opposition dealers tell you.

And the fact that Ruberoid is first in the field is not all.

Carefully Inspected

When you buy a roll of Ruberoid, you may be sure that that roll is just like every other roll of Ruberoid. There is no variation. No unevenness. There cannot be.

We test each mixture of gum every day. We test the felt. We test each run of the finished product.

In each roll you will find a slip bearing the hand-written initials of two men. Each roll is inspected and cross inspected. The inspector and the cross inspector each signs his initials, and are held personally responsible for every roll, making it practically impossible for any imperfection to pass unnoticed.

The Answer Is Easy

Please go back to the table of ten tests.

Is any roofing cheap, at any price, which looks like Ruberoid, but which contains such hidden faults?

Can any such roofing be compared with Ruberoid, whose first roofs, now more than seventeen years old (laid in 1892), are still good—and good for years to come?

About "Private Brands"

Please remember that the dealer in roofings is a merchant—not a manufacturer.

He doesn't make roofings. He doesn't, of his own knowledge, know how they are made. All he knows about roofings is what he is told.

Private brand roofing, bearing his name, or some fancy name, is sold by manufacturers not strong enough to market their own roofings over their own names—or ashamed to do so.

You Are the Loser

Their plan is to flatter the dealer by using his name—or by selling him a "special" brand at low cost.

They leave it to him to unload on you.

That explains why some dealers may argue that their roofings are better than Ruberoid.

Of such arguments, you can conclude for yourself, but of one thing beware!

Beware of the dealer who tells you that the roofing he sells is the same as Ruberoid, though under another name. No Ruberoid is sold in that way.

At regular intervals Ruberoid is indelibly stamped on the back with the trade mark.

We make no private brands. We market no roofing but Ruberoid. And if any is spotted in the making, it is destroyed.

Look for the Trade Mark

When buying Ruberoid, look on the underside of the material. There, at regular intervals, you will see the trade mark, RUBEROID.

Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Success.

Mr. Barrington Hooper, who has been making a tour of Canada and Newfoundland as special correspondent for the Daily Mail, arrived in Montreal on his way home. He had come direct from Montreal, and was enthusiastic over the success attending Lord Northcliffe's enterprise in that colony in the establishment of big pulp and paper making works.

"Despite the dismal prognostications of failure made by jealous New York papers," said Mr. Hooper, "the scheme is proving an unqualified success, and the Harmsworth publications are assured of a paper supply for all time. It is only three years since the scheme began to be realized, and yet all the paper now used in the printing of the Daily Mail is being manufactured at this plant. Besides that huge quantities of pulp are being exported to other paper mills, and experiments are now in progress with a view to making the finer quality of paper used for the magazines of the Harmsworth publications."

"There is a population of between four and five thousand people now engaged at these works at Grand Falls, Newfoundland. Lord Northcliffe has built up a model town and a harbor of his own, and now runs four steamships between Newfoundland and England, giving a weekly service. All his workmen are enthusiastic and loyal to him, for he had done everything possible to make them comfortable and prosperous. He endowed a public utility fund for the town of Grand Falls with $10,000. Then he established a co-operative store, and various other enterprises, all the profit of which goes to this fund, which is used for such purposes as they may decide on, such as providing parks, recreation ground, and numerous other things of public benefit. Since the fund was started it has grown to $40,000."

Special to Evening Telegram.

KINGSTON, Ja., June 6. The British schooner Marion May, which arrived here to-day from Mas-sau, Bahama Islands, reports being stopped and searched six miles off Cape Mayal, Cuba, by the Cuban cutter Balro. An armed party from the cutter boarded the schooner, removed the hatches and overhauled the cargo. The officer in charge insisted upon examining the ship's papers and manifest. No resistance was offered by the crew of the schooner, although the captain entered strong protest against what he termed unwarrantable interference outside Cuban waters. A request for a supply of the necessities, the captain reports, was refused and he was ordered to proceed on the voyage. Representations have been made to the Colonial Government here and the affair will be investigated.

International Horse Show.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, June 6. The International Horse Show opened at Olympia this afternoon. It will continue throughout ten days. Although lacking the royal patronage, to which it has owed so much in the past, it has been anticipated with peculiar interest as one of the few events of a season that has been robbed of the usual gaiety because of the mourning for the late King. A large crowd was at the opening to see the wonderfully decorated hall, which is a rare spectacle in itself, and the horses housed in stalls lined with various colored clothes and empaneled with the prizes won at former shows.

It now turns out that the Kaiser was only suffering from a bug bite.

FINCH WINS OUT.

Chaplain Appointed.

Last night the full Battalion of the C. C. C. were assembled in their armory when a pleasing ceremony took place, viz., the installation of Rev. Father Sheehan, as Chaplain of the Corps, he replacing Father Fyne who has been transferred to St. Bride's, Cape Shore. Father Sheehan was introduced to the lads by Lieut.-Col. Greene in an eloquent address and was received with ringing cheers. Speeches were also made by Hon. J. Harris and Inspector General Sullivan, and the words of encouragement and praise bestowed by each were highly appreciated by the lads. Father Sheehan thanked the gentleman named and the officers for their kind references after which the companies were put through military exercises. Later the Battalion headed by the band of the Corps took a march countrywards.

Railing Badly Needed.

About midway out on the upper Battery road, just outside the bridge, there is a very dangerous place. The road skirts a cliff which has a drop of about 50 feet. The place should be protected by a substantial railing; a drunken man passing there would go over it and break his neck. The Council should look to the place if accidents are to be avoided.

HEARST'S ONSLAUGHT ON ROOSEVELT.
New York, June 2.—Cabling the American from Paris, William Randolph Hearst says:
"I believe it is the ardent wish of every true American abroad that Roosevelt cease to claim to represent American ideas in these foreign countries, and go home to devote his time and attention to whatever private business he may have. Self-respecting Americans are tired of seeing this self-advertising 'individual' parading about Europe, claiming to represent a democratic nation while seeking to ingratiate himself in un-democratic ways with the representatives of Monarchies and Empires."
"Americans who love their country and believe in Republican institutions are shocked and outraged to hear the supposed representative of Republicanism preaching the domination and oppression of subject states and advocating an Imperialism more severe than even the representatives of an Empire would dare publicly to avow. Roosevelt should go home for the relief of his own country and for his own advantage. The United States is being misrepresented abroad by a toy soldier, by a toy Colonel, who, though unwilling to submit to military discipline for the few days that he was in the army, has been forever since trying to inflict military methods and arbitrary rule upon his own people and others. Roosevelt should go home and study more closely and carefully the free Republican institutions that have made his country."
