TESTIMONIAL!

The White Clothing Mfg. Co., Ltd. Oct. 15th, 1919.
GENTLEMEN.—We received your bill and the 58 Suits O.K. and let me congratulate you and the working people on the workmanship of the clothes.
I inspected the Suits and they were done to the "point." You can show this letter to your workmen as they deserve it. I just came from the States and I consider the style and fit wonderful, and we can assure you that as long as we receive work as good as these you can be assured of our trade.
Hoping you will do all of our work like this, and thanking you very much,
I am, respectfully yours,

We received the above testimonial from one of our most particular outport merchants. We value his opinion and pass it on to our many customers.
Testimonials like the above have helped us to overcome the many difficulties essential to the starting of a new industry.
WORKMANSHIP AND VALUE
have been the main driving points in forcing us to the front after four months' operation as the

To-day's Messages.

MORE FLIGHT VICTIMS.
LONDON, Nov. 13. Lieut. Douglas, Australian Flying Corps, and Lieut. J. S. L. Ross, his navigator, who started from Hounslow this morning for a flight to Australia, were killed shortly after they began their journey, when their airplane crashed near Surlinton in Surrey. Lieut. Douglas and Ross were Australian entrants in the reliability flight from England to Australia, for the Australian Government prize of sixty thousand dollars. Several aviators also have entered this contest. The conditions of the flight are that the distance of eleven thousand five hundred miles must be covered within thirty days.

FEW WENT BACK.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 13. Although practically all the locals of the United Mine Workers had received official notice of recall of nation-wide strike orders, few of the forty thousand Union Coal Miners in Ohio returned to work to-day, according to operators and headquarters of Mine Workers here.

DON'T WANT TO WORK.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 13. The coal operators of Pittsburgh District, and Central and Eastern Pennsylvania reported that Union Miners of this area have displayed no inclination to return to work, despite the recall of strike order by United Mine Workers Executives.

BOLSHEVİK THREAT.
LONDON, Nov. 13. Nicholas Lenin, the Russian Bolshevik Premier, has sent a letter to the Turkestan Communists, in which he says that restoration of communications between Soviet Russia and Turkestan "opens the way for a struggle against Universal Imperialism and the wealth of Great Britain." The message is interpreted here as a hint at operations in the direction of British India.

L. W. W. LYNCHED.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. The man, who was lynched here to-day, after four members of the American Legion had been shot and killed during the Armistice Day celebrations, was identified early to-day as Ernest Everetts by a woman who conducted a rooming house where Everetts lived. He was working as an I. W. W. organizer, the woman said.

LABOR OFFERED SAY IN RAILROAD.

LONDON, Nov. 14. Premier Lloyd George has offered the Railway Men's Union membership in the committee of management of roads with directors and government officials, according to a statement by J. H. Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen. Mr. Thomas announces that the Government also has made a definite offer of new legislative machinery to deal with wages of railwaymen and the settlement of the disputes. Both offers were made at a conference of the Premier with a delegation from the National Union of Railwaymen, Thursday. The plan will be submitted to the executive of the Union to-day for decision.

BADE WASHINGTON ADIEU.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. At a brilliant reception, held at the British Embassy to-night, the Prince of Wales bade formal adieu to official Washington and indirectly to the city which for three days has given expression in unobtrusive hospitality and to the friendliness of the American people. It was one of the most cheerful twenty minutes which President Wilson has spent since his illness and he thoroughly enjoyed them. Late to-day the Prince of Wales called upon him at the White House. In describing the visit afterwards to Rear Admiral Grayson, Wilson's personal physician, said the two had a "fine old time."

WILSON WIRE ROYALTY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. President Wilson, in a cablegram to Queen Alexandra of Great Britain, said he was happy to say that his health was steadily improving. His message was in reply to one from the Queen, thanking him for receiving her grandson, the Prince of Wales, and expressing hope that his rest would give him fresh strength and health for the future.

POINCARÉ INSTALLED AS LORD RECTOR.

GLASGOW, Nov. 13. Raymond Poincaré, President of the French Republic, was installed to-day as Lord Rector of Glasgow University.

ITALY RAISES BLOCKADE.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 13. The Italian Government has officially raised the blockade of Flume, according to advices from that city received through Laibach, Austria.

Beat Girl to Death With Rifle Butt.

Then Blew Out Own Brains—Shocking Crime in Lunenburg County.

BRIDGEWATER, November 10.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Pleasant River early on Sunday morning, and the worst on record in this County. Wilson Huey, a returned soldier, came to the house of Mrs. Stuart Smith at Pleasant River and asked for lodging, which was given him, and late in evening she was awakened by a man entering her room. She protested against the intrusion and a revolver shot struck her skull, inflicting a slight wound, after which he left her, and attacked her daughter, Madzie, while Mrs. Smith walked one mile and a half to the nearest neighbor.

On Sunday morning Dr. Simpson, of Bridgewater, accompanied by Constables Snyder and Veinott, visited the house and found the daughter battered to pieces, and Huey with his skull blown off by a rifle in his own hand. The cause is unknown.

Story of the Crime.
LUNENBURG, November 10.—The murder of Miss Madzie Smith, and the suicide of Wilson Huey, at Mount Pleasant, has caused intense interest in this town.

Wilson Huey, a returned soldier, formerly of Mount Pleasant, who was married to a Miss Smith of Hemford, with whom he lived apparently on amicable terms up to the time of his enlistment, but during his absence at the front, Mrs. Huey was carrying her lying in Bridgewater. It appeared that Huey became infatuated with Miss Madzie Smith, daughter of Mrs. Stuart Smith, and although his attentions were not reciprocated he visited their home.

At a late hour on Saturday night he was given permission to remain for the night, and taking a light and his rifle, which he had with him, he proceeded up stairs.

Found Both Dead.
Mrs. Smith and her daughter retired, both occupying the same room. Through the night Huey came downstairs and entered their room. Mrs. Smith raised her head from the pillow and told him that this was not his room, and asked him to go to his own room. With that he fired at her, the shot grazing the side of her face. She immediately left the house and got to the home of Joseph Colp, at two a.m., a distance of one mile through the woods. She was in an exhausted and highly nervous condition, but nevertheless returned with Colp to her home, only to find that her daughter had been slain by Huey, having dashed her brains out with the butt of the gun. Huey then went up stairs and blew his brains out with a shot from his rifle.

An inquest was held yesterday and a verdict given in accordance with the facts. Hentford is about forty miles from here, and the quiet and respectable community is highly shocked at this most atrocious murder. Mrs. Smith has the respect of everybody in the settlement, and Madzie was a beautiful girl in looks and character, and it seems so sad that as she was coming into womanhood with a bright future that she should meet such a dastardly end from the hands of such a fiend.

Britain's Biggest Bell. Walter A. O'D. Kelly, Licensed Auctioneer and Commission Agent.

In the course of the hearing of a case that was being tried in the High Court of Justice, it was stated by an eminent K.C., that Big Ben is the biggest bell in the British Isles.

The statement was apparently acquiesced in alike by Judge, jury, and spectators. At all events, it passed unchallenged. And no wonder, since most standard books of reference assert the same thing.

But they are all wrong. Britain's biggest bell is not Big Ben, but Great Paul, which hangs in St. Paul's Cathedral.

It is a very hermit amongst bells, its abiding place is situated far away in the innermost recesses of the building, in a chamber forbidden to the public, and to be reached only after much clambering of tortuous stairs and traversing of many devious passages.

Perhaps it is for this very reason that its claims to superiority of bigness over all its British rivals have been, up till now, nearly ignored. "But its sound," you say, "will surely betray it!" Not at all. Indeed, so securely is the monster buried in its aerial mausoleum of solid masonry, that though rung every day, London is totally unaware of the fact. Just a whisper of it you may hear, if you "chance" to be standing in the churchyard between one o'clock and five minutes past, the ghost of the echo of a distant tintinnabulation, so to speak; but you will have to listen intently.

Yet Great Paul weighs nearly seven tons, and is rung by the combined labour of four men, who swing it to and fro for the regulation five minutes, until towards the end it is swinging through nearly two-thirds of a circle, and both sides are thundering with the crashing blows of a clapper which itself weighs a third of a ton.

Big Ben, on the other hand, weighs only 13 tons 11 cwt., and is, moreover, incapable of being rung.
