PEPYS BEHIND

April 26th .- All the town filled today with rumours of politics, which I give little heed to, but I do hear it on the best authority that Mr. Warren and Mr. Higgins have joined as leaders of a new party, and Mr. Monroe promises to go for them to Bonavista. The compleat arrangement of the party not yet made and like to take a little while. It is certain, however, that Sir Michael Cashin and Sir John Crosbie will have no part in it. and, indeed, will stand aloof from politics, I learn, too, how Sir W. F. Coaker will withdraw himself from public life, and with him Messrs. Winsor and Abbott. No news of what Sir R. Squires does albeit a' report abroad that he has a great sum of money to use for a campaign fund. and will essay to form a party. But Lord, how full of complications is this business so that none may say what will come of it. Talking to-day with Mr. Fox, he tells me the Masons will have a dance on May 7th, and this like to be the last for some years, which I am sorry for, being that these dance the best that ever I attended. and always the greatest possible success. Comes a letter from Mr. Hartnett bidding me to a dance which he gives next se'ennight for the Stroilers, but how I shall hide this from my wife. I know not, albeit if I go it will be without her.

April 27th (Lord's Day)-To the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, and the first time of my doing this many a nonth. Mr. Brinton preaches of the need for prayer, and makes a good case of it. Walking with Povey he tells me of new developments which he says will occur in the political situation ere long, and hints at a very great man, whom he will not name, his forming a new party, which if it be true, seems as if there will be more parties even than candidates.

The Dwyer Sisters, who scored such a notable triumph at the Crescent last week are opening this, the second week of their engagement with an unusual programme of songs and dances including their great toedance and whirlwind acrobatic act. They have selected some special novelty songs which they feel sure will please their audiences. Before returning to the Keith Circuit these clever and talented artistes intend giving patrons of this theatre some big surprises, which will be sprung during the next few weeks. Watch the advertisements in this paper for each change of programme. To-night's picture is the great Peter B. Kyne story. "Back to Yellow Jacket," is a strong story, forcefully told and one which will, at the same time, please every type of theatregoer. There is no let-up in the fast pace which carries it from start to finish; the interest is never permitted to drag and at the same time there is not a single situation contained which could possibly displease any type of theatre-goer.
